

HOW white is "white"? The races of Hawaii confuse the question more than ever. We have all seen dark, or even black men from India whom in features, racial characteristics and historic origin, were undoubtedly of the white race, and we have all seen Chinese of lighter complexion than many "white" men. Here in Hawaii it is even more topsy-turvy. The whitest are of course the "haves" — the convenient Hawaiian word for Nordic Europeans — but all the others are dark in the exact reverse order of their white blood. The darkest are the native Hawaiians, whom ethnologists declare to be of Caucasian origin, only slightly mixed with other races. The next darkest are the Filipinos, who are probably a mixed race with originally a substantial element of white blood. Next are the Japanese, who claim to have had some Aryan blood before they came to Japan, and who undoubtedly acquired a considerable admixture of Caucasian blood thereafter. Lightest of all, except the "haves," are the Chinese, who have no white blood at all. And much darker than the Chinese are the Portuguese, who are pure whites. It is a topsy-turvy scale. The whiter a people is, apparently, in blood, the darker it is in color.

ANOTHER upside-down thing is a psychological experiment. Did you ever try the stunt of looking at a scene with your head upside down? The unfamiliar position makes the whole landscape seem more vivid in color and clear in outline. It is the same with so prosaic a thing as eating, when you are on an island where the coffee, and sugar, pineapples and bananas are home grown, and the bread, meat and onions are imported; where you know every product of the island and have seen it grow, and where the normally most familiar things are imported from your own country, many of them on the very ship on which you have just come yourself.

On the mainland we may know intellectually, but do not often feel imaginatively, that the simplest meal has been gathered from the ends of the earth. But here, where everything is so small that you see it with your eyes; where you can drive from anywhere to anywhere in an hour or two; where you change climates in a ten minutes journey; where the ships pass by your window from all the strangest parts of the earth, and where, precisely the most familiar things are the most exotic, the realization is more vivid.

A SMALL island in other ways pictures the world on a toy scale. Within a half-hour's walk, or a few moments drive of the hotel where this is written are two climates; one where it rains every day, and another where it scarcely rains at all. Where do you get your water? A friend asked former Governor Frear, at his beautiful home on top of Mt. Tantalus, "It comes from heaven," he said. "You know, it rains six times as much here as it does in Honolulu, and the rain on the roof fills my reservoirs." Yet Honolulu was only a half-hour's drive away, in plain sight. And Honolulu has at times the rain of the Kohala district, five miles in the other direction.

You look from a hill over Honolulu and are struck with the fact that there is not a single house with a chimney. There is no heating apparatus, not even a fireplace, in any of them. Yet in Pacific Heights, and on Tantalus, a few minutes away in the other direction, many of the houses have chimneys. Wealthy residents frequently have three houses, one in town, one at the beach, and one in the hills. The two furthest removed are not ten miles apart, yet they have such totally different climates as to justify maintaining separate residences in them. One district will be flooded, raising rice and taro, with luxuriant kukui and hau trees on its hillside; another will barely maintain scanty aloes, with cactus on its hillside, and there are slopes on Diamond Head which grow nothing at all. And all this variety in an island so small that you drive clear around it in an afternoon.

Ford Introduces New Type Plane

DETROIT, Aug. 3.—A huge monoplane, equipped to land its cargo from mid-air while traveling 100 miles an hour, was exhibited today for the first time at the Ford airport.

The craft resembled an enormous motor truck with wings attached.

It was towed onto the flying field from a giant motor and when its three great motors were started, the noise was deafening.

Described as the largest airplane ever built, the craft measured 74 feet between the tips of its wings.

Jury Hears Ex-Head Of Traffic Squad

DEFENSE IN JAIL PROBE OPENS SOON

Inquisitorial Body Is Believed Approaching End Of Accusation Testimony

BUCHTA AGAIN CALLED

Henry Warner Thought to Have Told of Alleged Irregularities in Bastile

THE GRAND JURY today was believed to be "cleaning up" the inquisitorial body in the county jail investigation, preparatory to entering the defense phase of the hearing that has been under way for a week.

While definite information regarding plans for the hearing was not available, it was understood that District Attorney Z. B. West Jr., might conclude presentation of accusation testimony today.

Joe Buchta, central figure in the jail probe, was before the grand jury late yesterday and was believed to have completed his testimony for the present, since he was not recalled today. Henry S. "Pop" Warner, former captain of the state traffic squad in this county, replaced him as witness this morning and was closeted with the grand jury during most of the session. Warner's testimony was believed to be similar to that of Louis Heffner, his former fellow officer, who was said to have filed wholesale accusations against peace officers, relating to liquor parties and asserted irregularities in the jail.

Former Deputy Testifies

John Scott, of La Habra, former special deputy of Sheriff Sam Jernigan, was waiting to testify. Scott, it was believed, intended to tell the grand jury of asserted occasions on which he reported cases of gambling and drinking to the sheriff's office, whose deputies, sent to the scene, appeared unwilling and hesitant to act and gave warning to their prospective prisoners so that the latter had time to conceal the evidence before being arrested.

Scott, it was reported, would testify that he warned Sheriff Sam Jernigan that a change in enforcement methods was needed. Scott was not reappointed deputy when the sheriff started his second term of office, this year.

John Delequa, former head trusty at the jail, also was waiting today to testify. He expressed wonder at receiving a summons.

Saw Nothing Wrong

"I have nothing to say against the jail officials," he said. "I never saw anything wrong while I was there."

Former Sheriff C. E. Jackson today took recognition of published rumors that his name was being discussed as a possible successor to Sheriff Jernigan in the event that the grand jury investigation should result in a vacancy. "I do not intend to make an effort to get the office. If there should be a vacancy and the people of the county want me, very well, I would accept the place and do my very best. But it would be strictly up to the people."

BASEBALL RESULTS

YANKEE STADIUM, NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Lou Gehrig batted out home runs Nos. 36 and 37 in the double-header with the Detroit Tigers today and became three up on his teammate, Babe Ruth. His first came with none on base in the second inning of the first game off Stoner and his second also with none on was made off Gibson in the sixth inning of the second game.

16 OFFICIAL ENTRIES IN DOLE HOP TO HONOLULU

Growers And Cannery Break Deadlock

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 3.—After two weeks of unproductive conferences, during which more than $1,500,000 worth of peaches rotted on the ground, the deadlock between growers and cannery was broken today and a definite settlement was expected before night.

No announcement will be made of the terms of the armistice when it is reached. Preston McKinney, vice president of the California Cannerymen's league, said. McKinney said if an arbitrary price is reached it will have to be referred to the directors of the California Ginning Peach Growers' association and his own organization before it is made public.

Aviators Are Tuning Planes For Long Race

(By United Press)
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 3.—Sixteen official entrants in the Dole $35,000 prize air race from the Pacific coast to Honolulu, starting at noon August 12, were announced today by Frank A. Flynn, secretary of the contest committee. He said he understood two or three additional entries are in the mail and will be honored.

Flynn said he had received the $100 entrance fees of Fred W. Burgh, Los Angeles, and Martin Jensen, Honolulu, in the mail this morning.

Burgh will fly in a monoplane but did not list its specifications. Jensen did not reveal the type of his plane.

Fred Dealy, Dallas, personal representative of Captain William P. Irwin, one of the contestants, arrived today. He said Irwin plans a three months' tour of the world by air after the hop to the Hawaiian Islands.

The entries of Capt. James L. Giffin, Long Beach, Calif.; Frank Clark, Los Angeles; Lt. George D. Covell, San Diego; and Edmund J. Moffett, San Francisco; also were filed during the closing hours.

That of W. R. Garrett, Los Angeles, was understood to be in the mail.

Giffin announced he would pilot a triplane with two Wright motors. Clark's plane, a biplane, also is equipped with a Wright engine. Secord has surrounded the construction of the monoplane Covell will fly. Moffett entered a monoplane.

Giffin's triplane is the only ship of this class entered.

Others in the 2408-mile event, which promises to be the greatest in the history of aviation, are: Arthur C. Goebel, Santa Monica; Maj. Livingston Irving, Berkeley; John Auguy Padden, Flint, Mich.; F. A. Giles, Detroit; Charles William Parkhurst, Lomax, Ill.; Lt. N. A. Goddard, San Diego; Capt. William P. Erwin, Dallas, Texas; Capt. Arthur V. Clark, Los Angeles; John W. Frost, San Francisco; and Bennett Griffin, Oklahoma City.

Major Irving is the only one of the entrants here. The others are expected to land at San Francisco or nearby aviation fields between now and Monday, when drawings for positions in the starting lineup will be held.

The flyers are spending the few days preceding the race in tuning up their start for the long grind.

They also must submit to tests to determine their flying ability and the competency of the navigators must be examined.

Four of the pilots have asked permission to use the Oakland airport, from which Lieutenants Maitland and Hegenberger and Ernest Smith and Emory Bronte started their successful journeys across the Pacific ocean. Mills field, San Francisco airport, is being considered by many of the entrants.

Contest officials said they had heard nothing further from Robert Horsley, Sarasota, Fla., who wired asking that the entry list be left open 48 hours and was informed his entry would be recognized if mailed before midnight.

Expect Official Steps for Formation of District Will Be Made

(By United Press)
PASADENA, Calif., Aug. 3.—First official steps in the formation of a water district to bring water to Southern California from the Colorado river are expected to be taken at a meeting of the Colorado River Aqueduct association at Ontario Saturday, it was announced by city officials here today.

Thirty-eight Southern California cities will be represented at the meeting, called to lay plans for the water district under the Metropolitan water district act passed by the last legislature.

Major phases of Colorado river aqueduct development slated to be discussed at the meeting are:

Reports of preliminary activity by William Mulholland, chief engineer of the Los Angeles power bureau.

Legal aspects of the district will be presented by the association's legislative committee, headed by W. B. Mathews, counsel of the Los Angeles water and power department, and J. H. Howard, former Pasadena city attorney.

Selection will be made of a city in the proposed district to adopt an ordinance establishing the water district, according to an announcement. The projected ordinance would outline the limits of the district and name cities to be included. Cities might subsequently hold elections to decide on joining the district.

Authorization by the association of a friendly suit to test constitutionality of the water act is expected.

Pasadena will be represented at the Ontario meeting by R. L. Daugherty, city director, and S. B. Morris, chief engineer of the municipal water department.

Legionnaires Help In Battling Blaze

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., Aug. 3.—A blaze which swept through the Santa Barbara Lumber company, causing damage estimated by police at more than $100,000, was brought under control early today while firemen took precautionary measures to prevent another outbreak.

The flames broke out shortly after midnight and delegates to the state American Legion convention, in session here, aided firemen in maintaining patrol lines. Firemen were successful in their fight to save the lumber company offices and the Stearns wharf, adjoining police at more than 100,000 feet. The origin of the blaze is unknown.

CLINGS TO LIFE

FRESNO, Aug. 3.—Joseph Jeannayan, 24, who broke his neck in a dive into a shallow pool on the San Joaquin river yesterday, still clung tenaciously to life early today and physicians indicated he had a fighting chance to live.

Statement By Coolidge Affects Mart

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Stock prices crashed at the opening of the market today as a result of the announcement of President Coolidge at the close yesterday, that he would not run for another term.

General Motors opened off seven points at 222 and U. S. Steel off 3/4 at 134 1/2. Baldwin locomotive sold off four at 246. Baltimore and Ohio dropped six to 118.

After the first rush of selling the drop was checked somewhat. Steel steadied in the first 15 minutes and rose to 135 1/2. General Motors was bid at 227.

ANGELINO SAYS HE IS SEEKING TO BUY TEMPLE

Claims He Would 'Eliminate Emotional Debauchery, Nonsense'

(By United Press)
ALTOONA, Pa., Aug. 3.—Dr. Frank E. Oliver, of Los Angeles, who is attending the Pennsylvania bible conference here, announced last night that he is negotiating for the purchase of Aimee Semple McPherson's Angelus temple, in order to "eliminate emotional debauchery and nonsense there" and "to establish an evangelical center along definite lines."

Dr. Oliver said R. T. Trueblood, managing editor of the Los Angeles Times, has been acting as his agent.

TOO SILLY TO ANSWER, SAYS MRS. MCPHERSON

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 3.—"It is too silly to answer," Aimee Semple McPherson declared here today on being informed of the announcement of Dr. Frank E. Oliver, of Altoona, Pa., that he was negotiating for the purchase of Angelus temple.

"I couldn't sell the temple if I wanted to," Mrs. McPherson said. "It is the property of the Echo Park Evangelistic association and not mine."

Mrs. McPherson said she was not aware of any negotiations such as mentioned by Dr. Oliver and declared that she never had received a proposition of that kind.

BALCHEN ESCAPES DEATH IN CRASH

TETERBORO Field, N. J., Aug. 3.—Bernt Balchen, aerial navigator, who accompanied Commander Byrd on his transatlantic flight, narrowly escaped death this afternoon when the Fokker plane in which Clarence D. Chamberlin made his ship-to-shore flight Monday, crashed to the field.

Balchen was testing the plane. He had circled the field several times when it suddenly plunged to earth. The landing gear and one wing were badly damaged.

Balchen received only minor bruises. Shortly after Balchen's crash, a stunt plane, manned by a pilot named Smith, crashed into a swamp near the field. Because of the density of undergrowth and the depth of mud, rescuers had not reached the plane at 3 p. m.

Flyers Fail In Record Attempt

VIENNA, Aug. 3.—The third royal air force attempt of the summer to create a new non-stop record failed today when an official report from Linz said the plane fell into the Danube river near Aschach. One of the officers in the British plane was seriously injured, the report said, and the other was slightly injured.

12 LOS ANGELES JUDGES SHIPS FILLED BY GOVERNOR YOUNG

(By United Press)
SACRAMENTO, Aug. 3.—The 10 new Los Angeles county superior court and two municipal court judgeships created by the last legislature were filled last night by Governor Young.

The new superior court judges will be William T. Aggeler, Daniel Beecher, Walter J. Desmond, Charles W. Fricke, Thomas C. Gould, Charles C. Montgomery, B. Ray Schauer, Joseph P. Sprout, Clay S. Tappan and Leon R. Yankwich, while the municipal bench positions will be filled by Charles L. Bogue and George W. MacDill.

The governor made his selection, he said, from a list of 160 candidates with the help of the Los Angeles bar association.

"From the 1350 such lists which I have tabulated, I have been greatly struck with the remarkable unanimity of opinion as to the relative qualifications of the men I am appointing," the governor said.

"With only one or two possible exceptions, I have been able to make my appointments from the 20 men who rank highest in the lists submitted by the bar as well as by others whom I have consulted."

PRESIDENT GETS MESSAGES OF CONGRATULATION AND DESPAIR

Opinion Appears Divided On Coolidge Decision Not to Enter Race

Settlement Of Temple Fight Near

(By United Press)
LOS ANGELES, Aug. 3.—With a new policy of silence adopted by the principals in the case, peace definitely has been established at Angelus temple and an amicable settlement of the dispute between Aimee Semple McPherson and her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, is near.

This was the gist of an announcement made by attorneys here today, representing the mother and daughter in a series of conferences for the purpose of effecting a financial agreement and the future status of Mrs. Kennedy as a temple leader.

Mrs. Kennedy is to remain as a trustee of the organization for several weeks, but a new business manager is to be named to replace her, it was understood.

DETECTIVES ON BENNETT TRAIL IN NEW YORK

Arrest of Julian Fugitive In Next 24 Hours Is Predicted

(By United Press)
LOS ANGELES, Aug. 3.—The arrest of Jack Bennett, fugitive financial wizard of the Julian Petroleum corporation, within 48 hours was predicted here today by the district attorney's office.

The missing stock manager of the corporation, who, before he left here hurriedly three months ago, had handled $100,000,000 worth of checks, is being trailed in New York and the apartment where his wife lives, in an exclusive residential district, is under surveillance, according to reports received here.

Information supplied to Ben Cohn, chief of the district attorney's office, indicated that Bennett may surrender. Meanwhile, it was reported here that part of the over-issued stock of which Bennett is asserted to have knowledge, is in the hands of New York purchasers, the amount being close to 1,000,000 shares.

Necessary steps to extradite Axel Swanson, former secretary of the eastern offices of the defunct oil company, are being taken here in the event Swanson refuses to return to Los Angeles from New York. After considering the plan of S. C. Lewis, indicted ex-president of the company, for the rehabilitation of the Julian corporation, the board of directors of the California Eastern oil company today had adopted resolutions authorizing appointment of committees from its membership to work with the federal receivers and the underwriter in effecting the reorganization program.

One committee will be named to co-operate on the financial measures, which include a $7,500,000 bond issue to be carried by Los Angeles banks, and a $3,000,000 debenture note, running 10 years, to meet current obligations of the corporation.

A second committee will assist the receivers in working out a plan for the exchange of Julian stock for California Eastern, on a dollar-for-dollar basis.

WASHINGTON WORD AWAITED IN GENEVA

GENEVA, Aug. 3.—Final word from Washington before adjournment of President Coolidge's naval limitations conference was awaited today with the possibility that the conference might agree on a naval holiday for several years.

Conference circles took the attitude that it was Washington's turn to speak before Thursday's plenary conference. Should the United States accept the naval holiday proposal, originally made by the British and revived by the Japanese, the conference would have achieved something more than failure.

The British and Japanese delegations said today that the situation had not changed, which meant the stalemate continued.

POLITICIANS SEE MYSTERY IN DECISION

Reaction from Startling Announcement by President Awaited in Capital

CONFLICTING OPINIONS

Meaning in Back of Brief Statement of Executive Is Puzzle to Officials

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Seasoned politicians, some with ambitions of their own or for friends, were waiting attentively today to catch the reaction from the startling announcement of President Coolidge that he does not "choose" to stand for re-election in 1928.

What did he mean by that brief, characteristic statement?

The mystery continued after a night of sleep, some of it manifestly troubled by aspiring Republican candidates who would waste no time in getting their campaigns under way if they thought President Coolidge was out of the race.

Some interpreted it that way, definitely. Many others viewed it as a "feeler"—what is known to the practical politician as a "kite."

Those who held the latter view explained that the president wants to find out how the wind is blowing, whether his strength is sufficient to try for another term in the face of the "third term" tradition and whether there is any real strong sentiment against a "third terms," so called.

Those who held these conflicting views continued their arguments today here, as they must at every cross roads store in the country.

Public Men Stupefied

Public men here were actually stupefied. Apparently they had looked for nothing of the kind. It had become almost generally accepted among the president's friends here that he would run again.

Senator Smoot, of Utah, an administration leader, stood speechless for several minutes, casting his eyes about the walls of his office, as he meditated upon the news brought him by a corps of newspaper correspondents, who caught him as he was leaving to play golf.

"The only way I can construe it is that if the Republican convention wants him to run, he will run, but if left to his personal choice, he would prefer not to," Smoot said, finally, thus lining up with those who believe the president is leaving the way open, and will decide definitely later.

Senator Curtis, of Kansas, Republican floor leader, declined to comment until he "learns more about the situation."

A Democratic statement came from Senator Hefflin, of Alabama, who took it for granted in his pronouncement that President Coolidge was out of the race and said: "I'm glad, the president 'has decided wisely.'"

"I'm glad," Hefflin said, "he has shown so much respect for the two-term tradition."

Whether Democrats generally will take this talk remains to be seen. Some Democrats may demand that Coolidge explain exactly what he meant, though the president has paid little attention hitherto to such inquiries from the opposite political camp.

Mystification Continues

With mystification continuing as to the president's intentions, interest turned today to Republican presidential aspirants and their reaction. Political observers were waiting to see how they will take the president's statement, whether they will regard it as freeing them from any further allegiance to Coolidge, whether some will now openly battle for the nomination whatever Coolidge may have meant, or whether they will watch cautiously from the sidelines for a while longer.

Some of those presidential possibilities closely connected with the administration are in a peculiar situation, including Secretary of Commerce Hoover, Vice President Dawes, former Secretary of State Charles Evans Hughes, Speaker Nicholas Longworth of the house, former Gov. Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, Senator Borah of Idaho, and Senator Hiram Johnson of California.

Those whose political fortunes have been more or less tied up with the administration naturally must watch their course carefully. They cannot act too quickly, unless determined to make an open and bold bid, as the tide might turn in a general demand that Coolidge run again and they would be placed in an unfavorable position should he be re-elected.

RICH CHINESE BOY RENOUNCES WEALTH, POWER

FORT SNELLING, Aug. 3.—To sit in high places with the powerful war lords of China means nothing to a 21-year-old Chinese youth who has refused enticing offers by his influential family for the rank of a humble private in the revolutionary nationalist army.

Leng Wong, the son of a rich and powerful Chinese family and a graduate of Virginia Military Institute, Lexington, Va., will complete his military training here in a few days and embark for China to enter the cause of the Chinese revolution.

He wants to fight for the "spirit of nationalism that is awakening China," he says. He has refused the position of aide to Gen. H. J. Chen, the commanding general of the Chinese antinationalist army.

Contrary to the wishes of his father, who is one of the richest men in China, a builder and the chief engineer of the Lung Hai railroad which crosses China from east to west, Leng has already accepted the place of private in the revolutionary forces.

Accompanied by his "buddy," C. R. Chang of Canton, China, Leng came to the reserve officers' training camp here to put the finishing touches to his military training before leaving for China.

Chang, also in sympathy with the revolutionary cause, has renounced his right as eldest son to inherit his wealthy father's exporting business, to pursue the career of a criminal lawyer at the Chinese bar.

Chang expects to tour Europe to study the various Occidental judicial systems so that he may return to China to work for the reform of the criminal jurisprudence of awakened China. He is a graduate of the college of law at Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill.

COUNTERFEIT GAINS PROVE SHORT LIVED

NICE, Aug. 3.—Recently at Budapest four Hungarians formed a syndicate, or consortium, with a fully paid in capital of a million francs, with which they purposed to do great things. Where should they play? At Deauville? At Paris? Plage, Biarritz, Nice or Cannes? Finally, after much deliberation they decided to move upon the supreme metropolis of chance, Monte Carlo itself.

Reaching the tiny principality, they took quarters at the best hotel and passed a few days in pleasure-seeking, without playing at the Casino. Then, having thus disarmed suspicion, they set to work, with the million francs all in their pockets, in bills of 1000 or 500 francs each.

The first evening, following carefully an ingeniously devised "system," they won largely.

The second evening they again won. The third evening they lost. The fourth evening they won back all that they had lost and were thus peculiarly just where they started.

The fifth evening—alas! They were arrested. Pourquoi? Because all their million francs were in counterfeit notes. After that, one wonders why they came armed with only one million.

But the bank remained unbroken.

Steamships plying between Montreal and Liverpool are out of sight of land for only four days.

Ventura Girl Is Miss California

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 3.—Billie Copeland, of Ventura, today wears the crown of "Miss California, 1927."

She was selected by eight judges from 58 of the most beautiful girls in the state to be California's representative at Atlantic City next month.

A the same time Linda Burrage, of Imperial, was chosen as "Miss Southern California, 1927." She also will go east.

In event Miss Copeland is unable to compete in the national event, the judges decided Bertha Wiesel, Santa Cruz, should take her place. Amo Ingraham, Hollywood, is the alternate for "Miss Southern California."

TRUMBULL GIRL BLUSHES OVER JOHN COOLIDGE

DETROIT, May 3.—Miss Florence Trumbull, the pretty dark-eyed daughter of the Connecticut governor whose name has been mentioned as a possible daughter-in-law of the president, has admitted "an understanding" between herself and John Coolidge.

Miss Trumbull is in Detroit with her parents, Gov. and Mrs. John H. Trumbull.

"You are engaged to John Coolidge, aren't you?" Miss Trumbull was asked.

"Well, things are just the same between us," the girl smiled.

"You mean it's sort of an understanding between yourselves?"

Miss Trumbull, her cheeks rapidly reddening, nodded her head.

"When will you be married?"

"Oh, I don't know," Miss Trumbull said, "nothing has been set."

"About the plans for the wedding?"

"There's nothing more I can say," she said. "You know what publicity would do. They had to put a guard near John at Amherst, you know."

VON HINDENBURG'S PICTURE ON STAMPS

BERLIN, Aug. 3.—President Hindenburg will soon see his picture on millions of postage stamps. He will be the first German thus to be honored during his lifetime.

Even William II was not depicted on postage stamps.

The Hindenburg stamps are to appear in connection with the festivities planned for the celebration of the soldier-president's eightieth birthday, October 2.

They will be issued in denominations of 5, 10 and 20 pfennigs, but will be sold at double the face value, the difference to be turned over to charitable purposes.

Thus far the only portraits on German stamps have been those of Heinrich von Stephan, Germany's first postmaster-general, who in 1875 organized the world postal union, and political and cultural leaders of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries—Goethe, Schiller, Frederick the Great, Kant, Beethoven, Lessing, Leibnitz, Bach and Durer.

Mob Still Hunts Rancher's Slayer

LAKEPORT, Calif., Aug. 3.—Anger among residents of north Lake county, over the killing of Everett Alley, rancher, by an unknown deer hunter, had not subsided today, although an all-night search for the hunter by more than 300 armed men had been unavailing.

Posses headed by Sheriff L. O. McKelly and District Attorney Ben C. Jones, who claim the mob still is making open threats to hang the slayer, are racing through the Bartlett mountain region in an attempt to be the first to apprehend the man.

Members of the posse are examining every gun they find in the district and comparing it with marks on the bullet which ended Alley's life.

An erroneous report that Rudolph Wolf, who was killed when his gun accidentally was discharged in the Horse mountain section also was slain by a deer hunter, spread through northern Lake county and resulted in more men joining the mob, the district attorney reported.

Pasadena Flyer To Try Tokio Hop

PASADENA, Calif., Aug. 3.—Bart Milatz, well-known Pasadena navigator, announced here today that he planned to take off within 30 days on a non-stop flight from Pasadena to Tokio by way of Honolulu.

A unique feature of the proposed flight calls for refueling of the plane immediately after it takes off from the Pasadena field and while in the air. The plane will be loaded with 600 gallons of fuel when it takes off and 250 gallons will be added to this from another plane.

Milatz explained that it would be impossible to fill the plane with enough fuel for the flight and get it off the ground.

Rex Smith, former army pilot, will pilot the plane. Milatz, who is a brother of Jack Milatz, air-mail pilot, who was killed in a crash on a flight between Chicago and Cleveland recently, said he had two planes that could be used on the trip.

TURKISH RULER SHUNS CITY OF GOLDEN HORN

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 3.—Constantinople is the only city of importance in Turkey that has not been able to behold Mustapha Kemal in the flesh since he became president of the republic three years ago.

Despite his popularity here and his own longing to revisit the scenes of his boyhood and of his schooling at the military academy, the Ghazi has shunned the City of the Golden Horn. It is said that his absence is a measure of caution, because of certain hostile elements in the Levantine hodgepodge of Constantinople's population.

Due to this continued absence, there has developed the legend of Kemal, the man of mystery. Tales of his private life, his powerful personality, his attractive appearance, are tinged with the romance of the unknown. Constantinople knows as little of its hero as the hundreds of young women in Europe, England and America, who fill the Ghazi's mail with letters.

Constantinople's version of romantic mystery was heightened in color when the Ghazi on one of his voyages of inspection in Anatolia yielded to a desire to gaze, if even from a distance, upon the queen city of his nation.

Enroute from Smyrna to Ismid, he ordered the captain of the Gul Djemal to deflect his course to the west. The ship drove through the Marmora and dropped anchor off the Princes' Islands, an hour distant from the harbor of Constantinople.

From the deck of the Gul Djemal, the Ghazi gazed long at the domes and minarets of misty, mysterious Stambul, the home of modern Arabian night. Then he called forth the ship's jazz band and summoned by speedy motor boats the elite of Constantinople society. He danced till dawn, then ordered the Gul Djemal to turn eastward toward his stronghold in the grim hills of Anatolia.

According to the U. S. treasury reports, the largest supply of gold ever accumulated by one country in the history of the world, a total of $4,598,782,795, was held in American vaults on April 1 of this year. This is about half the gold in the world.

Actress Wounded After Scoffing At Superstition

LONDON, Aug. 3.—Actress and actresses are murmuring here because Norah Blaney, actress with "The Vagabond King," has bought a green frock and a pair of shoes to match. There is a theatrical superstition that one should never wear green.

"Green is my lucky color, and Friday's my lucky day," Miss Blaney said, laughing away the advice of her friends.

But it was on Friday evening, while wearing the green doublet and hose as Hugette, that she received a dagger wound during the play, which nearly severed one of her fingers.

PRINCE OF WALES MAY VISIT IN U. S.

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 3.—Possibility that the Prince of Wales may visit the United States next month to witness the international polo matches at Meadowbrook was revealed today when it became known that the approach of the September event has found the prince more and more anxious to see the matches.

H.R.H. would visit the United States, if at all, it was believed, in the insufficient disguise of the well known Baron Renfrew.

Baron Renfrew is the prince's double in all respects except that he is not the heir to the throne.

Such being the case, Baron Renfrew can go places almost as an ordinary person, without donning kilts or other uniforms and untroubled by most of the ceremony which would attach to the movements of a future king.

U. S. Aid Asked In Curbing Epidemic

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—The Mississippi state health board has appealed to the U. S. public health department for 20,000 bulletins on how to deal with an epidemic of pellagra, becoming more prevalent in the flood-swept Mississippi valley.

Dr. C. C. Pierce, assistant U. S. surgeon, told the United Press today that Pellagra—similar to scurvy, is certain to spread through the entire valley, taking a heavy toll of life, unless the people of poverty stricken districts torn by floods are furnished good food.

NAVY FLYER TO ATTEMPT NEW SPEED RECORD

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—While one navy flyer was doomed to disappointment in the establishment of a world's altitude record when he fell in his burning airplane from what he believed a height of 47,000 feet, another crack pilot of that service has announced his readiness to recapture for the United States the seaplane speed record, wrested away last year by Italy.

In a seaplane with a newly developed motor, said to exceed in power any heretofore fashioned Lt. Alford J. Williams, the navy's greatest speed flyer, soon will make an attempt to break the 258.873 miles an hour record for the type established last November by Maj. Mario De Bernardi of Italy, in the Schneider cup races.

In order to bring the record back to the United States, Lieutenant Williams, under the international aviation contest rules, must exceed by four miles an hour the present mark, which will necessitate a speed of 263 miles an hour. However, some navy men believe the plane may attain a maximum speed of 300 miles an hour on the basis of recent tests.

The altitude reached by Lt. Carlson C. Champion in his recent spectacular flight over Washington, would not exceed 39,000 feet, according to tests by the bureau of standards, and does not break the present world's mark held by Callizo, a Frenchman, of 40,820 feet.

Son Of Patrolman Breaks His Leg

Lalene Holmes, 11, 902 South Main street, who broke his leg Monday, is today patiently waiting for the time when a plaster cast from his knee to his hip, can be removed.

Young Holmes, who is the son of police officer H. E. Holmes, fell from the roof of a porch on the W. S. Decker home, 822 South Main street, on Monday morning, while he was helping Decker clean the gravel from the porch. Losing his balance, he fell from the porch clinging at a wire as he fell, Lalene broke his fall and avoided landing on his head.

The fracture occurred just above the right knee. The boy was taken to his home nearby, where a plaster cast was placed on his leg. He is improving steadily, reports from his home stated today.

WORD CHOICE PUZZLES MANY NEWSPAPERMEN

Editorial comment in newspapers in all parts of the country today disclosed a variety of views on the future course of President Coolidge in view of his ten word statement that he did not "chose" to run for president in 1928.

The word "chose" puzzled many editorial writers, even the unabridged dictionaries being of no avail; all defined the word as meaning either a choice or a decision. But the Boston Post, which has been friendly to the president, said the word "chose" in the New England sense means a positive decision.

As for the chief Republican papers of the country, they were unanimous in expressions of regret but divided on the result of the statement. The Washington Post and the Philadelphia Inquirer took the position that Coolidge had eliminated himself with his statement.

The New York Herald-Tribune, the Boston Herald, the San Francisco Chronicle and the Los Angeles Times, equally strong administration supporters, predicted that the party and the country would "find" him for another term.

"It is what the American people want and not what the President wants," said the Los Angeles Times, "that will decide whether or not Calvin Coolidge will be a candidate in 1928."

Democratic papers also were varied in their interpretation of the statement, although most of them seemed inclined to believe that Coolidge would not be a candidate next year.

Herald-Tribune, (New York)—"On its face it (the statement) is enigmatic and subject to varied interpretations and highly stimulating of political speculation."

"He has disclosed his natural sentiments. He is not seeking another nomination. But the Republican party and the country may have other preferences. Political and economic conditions may make a continuance of the Coolidge administration highly advisable."

Boston Herald—"While we would not impugn his sincerity, we find it hard to believe, even in the face of this message, that he would decline the nomination if the convention forced it upon him. That it will do so if it believes he will accept, seems to us more than ever probable."

New York Times—"Now he has spoken. But is his single statement to be taken as a delphic oracle susceptible of two meanings? Or is it the dry and laconic Yankeeism for a single and fixed purpose? For our part we would not be so uncomplimentary to the President as to question his sincerity."

World, (New York)—"Mr. Coolidge, by his voluntary refusal, has added great weight to a great principle which his less thoughtful supporters were quite ready to abandon. There will be some of them, no doubt who even now will read the President's sentence as meaning that they are at liberty to organize a campaign to 'drag' him. But for ourselves we believe the President has spoken without mental reservation of any kind."

Chicago Daily News—"Mr. Coolidge says merely, 'I don't choose to run for President in 1928.' Faced by this grim sentence, an appreciative party conceivably might say if it were so inclined: 'Leave it to your fellow Republicans. They will do the choosing in your case.' But will the party be so inclined? Probably not. The President's laconic sentence does not lack emphasis."

June Mathis Will Occupy Grave Of Late Film Sheik

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 3.—The grave now occupied by Rudolph Valentino will be the final resting place of June Mathis, the woman who brought the late screen star to fame.

"Rudy, you can stay there until they place me in it," Miss Mathis said, as the body of Valentino was lowered into the crypt.

The body of Miss Mathis, famous woman producer and writer, will arrive here from New York Friday and will lie in state.

George Ullman, who is handling the funeral arrangements, said that the body of Valentino would be removed and placed adjacent to the Mathis crypt.

Office Luncheon Clubs Numerous

PARIS, Aug. 3.—The mounting cost of living and growing efficiency of French office management are said to be responsible for the increasing number of office luncheon clubs in Paris.

The clubs, made up of members of office staffs who do not go home for luncheon, have hot food sent in to an improvised office room. Members say that they can thus eat more cheaply than they could in restaurants or at home, allowing for transportation costs.

Court Notes

Postpones Sentence
Inability of the court to determine the age of Carlos Sovalos, who, with Philippe Chevia, was convicted today in a jury trial in the justice court of attempting to steal gasoline on the Irvine ranch, resulted in Judge Kenneth Morrison postponing pronouncement of the sentence until Friday at 9 a.m.

R. E. Reed, night watchman at the Irvine ranch, is asserted to have apprehended the youths in the act of preparing to drain a tank on the ranch on July 18.

LEADING REPUBLICANS HERE EXPRESS SURPRISE AND ALSO REGRET AT COOLIDGE'S MOVE

Varied interpretations were placed today in local Republican circles on President Coolidge's announcement that he does not choose to be a candidate for president in 1928. While several prominent Republicans expressed both regret and surprise at the Coolidge statement, others thought that the President had acted wisely in making known his stand on the "third term" controversy. All were unanimous, however, that President Coolidge has given the country a splendid administration and his record of achievements and accomplishments is one that reflects credit upon the Republican party.

Here is what leading Republicans think of the president's statement.

Dr. R. A. Cushman, Santa Ana physician, chairman of the Republican central committee:

"President Coolidge is the outstanding candidate of the Republican party. He has said nothing which will eliminate him from the race. If convinced that the rank and file of the party desire his services for another term, I am confident that he will accept the nomination."

Dr. C. D. Ball, assemblyman from this district, and prominent in Republican affairs:

"A splendid piece of Yankee politics. Yet, at the same time, because of his administration, he is the strongest candidate of the Republican party."

W. B. Williams, vice president and cashier of the First National bank, member of the Republican central committee:

"President Coolidge's announcement comes as a shock and surprise to the Republican party. Every Republican has a right to be proud of the Coolidge administration which, following the unsettled period of the war with its complicated problems, has been marked with a chain of remarkable achievements in various fields."

President Coolidge is too big and too sincere a man to resort to political tricks in order to secure the nomination; he meant what he said."

Colonel M. B. Wellington, Santa Ana attorney, member of the Republican central committee:

"President Coolidge followed the traditions of American government and the principles of the party in announcing that he is not a candidate for a third term. With his New England training, there is reason to believe that President Coolidge himself does not favor the idea of the third term, which, if once established as a precedent, may lead to situations not contemplated by the founders of the Republic. It is safe to say, however, that if nominated, President Coolidge would be elected."

Charles D. Swanner, Santa Ana attorney, member of the Republican central committee:

"President Coolidge did a wise thing to stop this talk about a third term. His administration has been one that reflects glory upon the Republican party and he will step out of office at the height of popularity. He has accomplished what he set out to do. In the matter of international relations, in an endeavor to promote peace and reduce armaments, he has done all that was possible within his power. His achievements in the field of national finance, reducing the national debt, is one that should commend itself to the attention of his fellow citizens."

Charles D. Swanner, Santa Ana attorney, member of the Republican central committee:

SAYS CHILDREN NOT KEY TO HAPPINESS

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—"Children are not always a comfort to a home nor do they always strengthen the love between man and wife as is commonly supposed," is the surprising statement made by Thomas Arkle Clark, dean of men at the University of Illinois.

"A home without children may still be a home," he adds, "defending childless married couples in The American Magazine. 'It is true that children may act as disciplinary agents to their parents; they may teach their elders economy and patience and unselfishness and self control, but these virtues may be acquired by other and less strenuous means. The more I see what trouble and worry and sacrifice they entail upon their parents, the more I am resigned to my fate.'"

"Youth is not always considerate of old age. It has its own serious problems to solve and even when it gives its attention to old age, it not infrequently does it grudgingly. Even if one has children, he cannot take it for granted that his old age will be a sheltered one. Besides while old age is beautiful, it is not always so. With young married people, when the child comes, too often all the sentiment, the tender love, the little attentions that each showers upon the other, goes to the child. Everything must give way to the child."

"Childless pairs growing old together have many compensations for their failure to have children. Having only each other, if true love has brought them together, the lack of children draws them still closer."

L. G. Swales was in charge of yesterday's program. He took occasion to call upon a number of members of the club for humorous accusations against various members and against the club in general.

W. B. Williams, who is in charge of the Rotary meeting for August 16, announced that wives and guests of members would be welcomed that day to hear John Mott, prominent Los Angeles attorney and member of one of California's best known families, speak upon the subject, "Early California."

70 Chickens Are Reported Stolen

The growing list of poultry owners recently robbed by chicken thieves in the county was added to last night, when the chicken house of R. F. Rumbold, Harbard road, southeast of Westminster, was robbed of 70 white leghorn and Rhode Island red chickens, according to a report filed with the sheriff's office.

Officer Howard and Carter made an investigation today and discovered tracks of two men leading from the yard to a nearby road. The tracks were unusually small it was said.

Peach Tree Object Of Damage Action

OAKLAND, Aug. 3.—The value of a peach tree will be determined by a jury here when the damage suit filed by Mr. and Mrs. Julius Franks against Mr. and Mrs. David Kennedy is called for trial.

Franks and his wife ask $600, claiming the tree was destroyed by an automobile driven by Mrs. Kennedy.

RESIDENT HERE HALF CENTURY CALLED TODAY

James Peters, 90, one of Santa Ana's earliest residents as well as one of the oldest citizens, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Emily Morris, 306 West Bishop street, this morning.

He had been ill for three years and had been confined to his bed for the greater part of that time. Several weeks ago, when interviewed by newspaper men, he expressed his desire to live to be 100 years old, in spite of the ailment which had confined him for many weary months.

A native of England, Mr. Peters came to New York when he was 19 years old. A year later he moved to Minnesota but remained there only a short time, coming to California, where he lived near San Francisco for a number of years. He was married in the northern part of the state and came to Orange county in 1873.

A dirt farmer, he was the first man to till the soil in the canyon east of Santa Ana which now bears his name. Because he was the first, the county honored him by naming the canyon after him.

Mr. Peters easily claimed the honor of being one of the city's pioneer citizens coming here 44 years ago, while his years spent in the state numbered 70.

Funeral services will be held at the Smith and Tuttle funeral parlors at 2 p.m. Friday, and burial will be made in Anaheim.

Mr. Peters is survived by a number of sons and daughters, as follows: Mrs. Ruth Anderson, Cantil, Calif.; Mrs. Emily Morris, Santa Ana; Mrs. William Whitehead, Irvine; James Peters, Tracy, Calif.; and Walter and Joe Peters of Wintersburg.

LITA GREY CHAPLIN CHANGES ATTORNEYS

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 3.—A sudden change in attorneys representing Lita Grey Chaplin in her battle for divorce from Charlie Chaplin was looked upon with significance here today.

With the scheduled contest three weeks off, it was learned that the law firm of Young and Young had withdrawn as the result of "difference in the matter of policy and procedure" and that Bradner Lee Jr. and Kenyon Lee would take their place with Edwin T. McMurray.

The cause of the break between McMurray and Young and Young could not be learned, but the presence here of Nathan Burkan, Chaplin's attorney, led to the report that a difference had arisen over a proposed settlement of the case out of court.

The move on the part of McMurray was taken to indicate that settlement is remote and that Mrs. Chaplin favors a court battle.

$2000 Damage Is Caused By Fire

FULLERTON, Aug. 3.—The warehouse of the Brown and Dauser Lumber company near the Santa Fe tracks was damaged to the extent of $2000 by a fire.

The fire was discovered about 3:30 o'clock, when smoke was seen from the roof of the warehouse.

GARDEN GROVE

GARDEN GROVE, Aug. 3.—The following are attending the annual California American Legion convention at Santa Barbara this week: Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Calwell, Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Schreff, Clifton P. Bryan, Rollin Rossett, George Hubbert, Clair McConnell and Edward Thayer.

A business session of Circle No. 4 of the Ladies' Aid society was held last week at the home of Mrs. Carrie Chaffee. The next meeting will be held August 25 with Mrs. J. W. Ocheltree.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Chaffee and family returned Sunday from Newport Beach, where they enjoyed three weeks' vacation.

Mrs. E. Northross and daughters, Miss Mabel and Mrs. L. A. Ford and son, Gene, and Kenneth Roake spent Monday at Laguna Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Reyburn entertained the following guests at dinner Tuesday: Mrs. Vern Whitson, Mrs. Mary Whitson, Mrs. Emma Wasser and Vern Whitson, all of Santa Ana.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Young enjoyed a trip to Redondo Beach Sunday.

Louis Aubuchon and Jack Dunagan made a trip to San Diego Sunday.

Charged with vagrancy, W. E. Boelcher, Los Angeles, was given a 30 day suspended jail sentence in police court yesterday.

Charged with non-support of a minor, Cecil B. Baker, Santa Ana, was held to answer to the superior court at the conclusion of his preliminary examination in Justice Kennedy Morrison's court.

Evidence for the plaintiff showed that Baker had not provided for the child since June 2. Bail of $250 was demanded, which was paid.

THREE STILLS CONFISCATED AND FIVE ARRESTED DURING NIGHT BY SHERIFF'S FORCE

Yesterday was a bad day for those who smash the prohibition laws by manufacturing liquor in hidden stills in Orange county. Three whiskey stills were confiscated by the sheriff and his deputies yesterday in three different sections of Orange county. Arrests were made in each case.

That the men arrested with the stills may be prosecuted under the new state law, which makes owning a still a felony, is probable according to deputy sheriffs.

Sheriff Sam Jernigan, with officers F. W. Howard, Harry Carter, Jess Elliott and Dan Adams, first raided a house off Wilson avenue, Costa Mesa, arresting E. L. Barron, 38, and L. Devas, 28, after confiscating 100 gallons of mash, a quart of whiskey, and a 20 gallon still.

The second still and its equipment was found at 6:45 p. m. yesterday when the same officers raided a house near Fifth street, a half mile west of the Fifth street bridge over the Santa Ana river.

Y. Lupeano, 39, found at the place, was arrested. The still was concealed in a dug-out at the rear of the house, cleverly concealed, officers said. It was a still with a 50 gallon capacity, a large number of empty five and one gallon bottles.

The third still of the day, which was the largest, was uncovered by the officers on the Huntington Beach road, three-quarters of a mile north of Seventeenth street.

This still had a daily capacity for making 100 gallons of liquor per day. Sixty-four 50 gallons of mash and 50 sacks of corn were confiscated in the raid.

S. Nohida, 51, Japanese, and Mike Rich, 31, were arrested. The still and its equipment occupied an entire dwelling, the Japanese and his family residing in a barn at the rear.

Officers said this plant was an alcohol "factory." Five gallons of alcohol were confiscated.

U. S. LAND OFFICE CLOSES BUSINESS

GUTHRIE, Okla., Aug. 3.—The latest landmark to disappear in the frontier in the West, and in Oklahoma in particular, is the United States land office at Guthrie which was closed and discontinued by executive order recently.

"Lack of business" was the reason given for the discontinuance of the office. All records and what little business remained will be taken to Washington and placed in the offices of the department of the interior.

The Guthrie land office saw its first business on noon of April 22, 1889, when the famous "run of '89" was made into Oklahoma Territory. It was the only building for miles. Government agents were on duty ready to register claims and issue deeds and titles.

From that day forward the little office literally did a "land office" business, the city of Guthrie growing up around the little shack. The little shack has long since gone, but the office was housed in the federal building at Guthrie.

YORBA LINDA

YORBA LINDA, Aug. 3.—Miss Margaret McFadden, local librarian, is enjoying her two weeks' vacation. Her sister, Miss Esther McFadden, is in charge of the library during her absence.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Bridge and daughter, Miss Dorothy, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Anderson Tuesday.

Mrs. Chauncey H. Eichler and son spent Thursday at Newport Beach, the guests of Mrs. Arnold Kraemer.

Marjorie Knight, who has been visiting relatives in Long Beach the past week, returned home Sunday.

Miss Suzanne Kellogg, after spending a week at Camp Osceola with the Girl Reserves, returned home Sunday evening with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Kellogg, who drove up Sunday.

Miss Irene Marshburn is taking a three weeks' course at summer school in Long Beach.

Mrs. Clinton Marshburn and children and Mrs. Nancy Marshburn spent Monday in Torrance, the guests of Mrs. Clinton Marshburn's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fitch. Returning home with them, Mrs. Fitch will spend several days here with her grand-daughter.

Paul Treyside and sister, Miss Ella, of Monrovia, called on friends here on Tuesday. Paul expects to attend the Los Angeles Bible Institute this next year.

Philip Sparks and son, Neil, and Murray Walker are spending their vacation fishing near Bishop.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Boegle left Monday for a week at San Diego, leaving the children in the care of a sister of Mrs. Boegle.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Salter, of Anaheim, and Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Acker are spending a few days at Newport Beach this week.

F. W. Stahler was a Santa Ana business caller Tuesday.

$100 REWARD

Will be paid for the arrest and conviction of parties responsible for throwing rocks and missiles at eastern part of the city on the evening of July 29, doing considerable damage by smashing several windows in two or three houses.

One citizen describes them as three young men, driving a small roadster, the top of the machine being down at the time.

This reward stands good until ordered withdrawn by the Board of Trustees, City of Santa Ana.

L. C. ROGERS,
Chief of Police, Santa Ana, Calif.

POLICE CHIEF POSTS REWARD FOR ARRESTS

Chief of Police Claude Rogers today offered a cash reward of $100 to the person furnishing information which will lead to the arrest of several boys believed to be responsible for throwing rocks and other missiles through the windows of several Santa Ana homes recently.

The reward was authorized by the city board of trustees, Rogers said.

Seven Santa Ana homes have been damaged during the past few weeks by boys who throw rocks from automobiles. It has been reported, and police believe that the same boys are responsible for all the crimes.

Several citizens who have seen the boys throw the rocks that crashed through the windows said they were riding in a small roadster at the time. One report was to the effect that the youths occupied a touring car.

Windows have been broken in the following homes recently:

John Boese, 1610 East Seventeenth street; Judge J. F. Talbot, 710 Mabury street; Frank Buchheim, 2001 East Seventeenth street; J. B. Gowder, 709 Mabury street; Frank E. 201 East Ninth street; Joe Parsons, 106 East Chestnut street, and Frank T. Smith, 1920 East Seventeenth street.

Otto Schaffer, of Anaheim, manipulated the machine yesterday. The machine is unique in that the wings are entirely below the engine.

Leut. G. H. Covell, naval flyer, will pilot the plane in the Dole race to Hawaii, it was announced today.

Covell's navigator for the flight has not been selected.

Three Engage In Fight; Arrested

A free-for-all battle in a house at Stanton early today, staged behind locked doors was brought to a halt after Roscoe Knight, deputy sheriff had smashed in the door and arrested three of the participants.

Octaviano Lopez, 39, Stanton; Felicitas Lopez, 60, Stanton, and F. Rico, Palo Verde, were lodged in the county jail after the encounter, where they are being held on charges of being drunk and disturbing the peace.

Knight effected the arrests alone after he had been called to Stanton by some one who reported there was a "drunk raising Cain" there.

The Lopez woman was slightly cut in the fight, it was reported.

Dr. Lane's Wife Sues For Divorce

Mrs. Anna Lane today filed suit for divorce against Dr. Clayton Lane, Santa Ana physician, alleging cruelty. Mrs. Lane seeks custody of a minor child.

Oil Sand Found In Yorba Well

YORBA LINDA, Aug. 3.—The Nugent Drilling company has re-opened an O.K. on a water shut-off on its Damon Al well.

The well was cemented off around 3100 feet and is being drilled down into the oil sand, over 40 feet of sand having been drilled through. It is located just south of the reservoir and up the hill from the test well, Damon No. 1. The well is being watched with interest.

The Petroleum Securities company's Krammer No. 1 on a 450-acre lease east of Yorba Linda on the barley fields was cemented off at 500 feet on Tuesday.

MISS JENNIE LASBY WEDS IN TRAVEMUNDE, GERMANY

A cablegram received yesterday by Mr. A. J. Lasby of 315 East Seventeenth street, brings the interesting announcement of the marriage of Mr. Lasby's sister, Miss Jennie B. Lasby, to Mr. John Tessmann, of Travemunde, Province of Lubeck, Germany, on Monday, July 25.

News of the marriage will come as a great surprise to many of the scores of friends and pupils of Mrs. Tessmann in Santa Ana, where for the past eight years she has been a member of the Santa Ana junior college faculty, with classes in astronomy and in history.

But to a few of her closer friends, Mrs. Tessmann had confided her plans, before her departure for Europe in June, and these friends have been awaiting with eager interest just the news that yesterday's cablegram bore.

The marriage took place in the quaint and ancient seaside town of Travemunde, on the Baltic, where the river Trave empties into Lubeck bay. An ancient stone church that dates back to the middle of the fifteenth century had been planned as the setting for this most interesting wedding, and to a few intimate friends the bride had shown the lovely gown and veil which she carried with her to be, as she said, "a bit of America" at her marriage so far away from home and family and friends.

The former Miss Lasby is a woman of rare charm and an especially brilliant mind, and during her long residence here has greatly endeared herself to a wide circle of friends who will wish for her and her husband a world of happiness.

A graduate of Carleton college, Minnesota, and of Bryn Mawr, in both of which colleges she later taught, Mrs. Tessmann was for several years a member of the staff of astronomers at the Mt. Wilson observatory, where her special branch of work was the study of asteroids. For some original observations she achieved in the field of asteroids, Mrs. Tessmann was awarded a place in the scientific catalogue of "Who's Who."

Early in 1914, Mrs. Tessmann went aboard to study European observations, and was compelled to return to America at the outbreak of the war a few months later.

Mr. Tessmann was also a member of the Mt. Wilson observatory staff, and it was there that the friendship began, which culminated in last month's marriage.

Mr. Tessmann was called home to enter the German army in 1914, and for several years he and his recent bride neither saw nor heard from each other.

His health impaired by the war, Mr. Tessmann returned to his home in Travemunde, which for generations has been the seat of the Tessmann family, and it was in this ancient seaside city that the friendship was renewed during one of Mrs. Tessmann's recent trips abroad.

Mrs. Tessmann will return to Santa Ana in September and will resume her duties at the Santa Ana junior college, and Mr. Tessmann, who is rapidly regaining his health, will join her here as soon as his business affairs in Germany can be suitably arranged.

Fiftieth Anniversary of Wedding Is Celebrated

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Lankford of Orange who recently celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary found themselves guests of honor Sunday at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Fannie Garr of Garden Grove when their many friends from throughout Orange county gathered there in celebration of their wedding anniversary.

Thirty-five guests were present at the delicious dinner served at noon and many more friends of the happy couple joined them during the afternoon to wish them happiness and to bring them some gift of remembrance. The afternoon was happily passed in games, music and conversation and ended with the serving of refreshments which consisted of ice cream and a huge wedding cake which was cut and passed by the "bride and groom of half a century."

The guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. H. W. Brown and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Lankford, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Brown and baby daughter; Mrs. Hickman, all of Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lankford and son and Mrs. Walters of Newport; Mr. and Mrs. Lankford Brown and children, of Bell; Miss Maude Garr and Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Jones, of Santa Ana; Mrs. Paul Hollister and two baby daughters of Chowchilla, Mr. and Mrs. John McClellan and Miss Dorothy McClellan of Madera, Mrs. Jesse Garr, Gilbert and Ted Ferguson of Garden Grove, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Stanfield and daughters of Orange, the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Garr, and the honored guests, Mr. and Mrs. Lankford.

Delightful Evening Is Enjoyed at Home of Warren Seeber

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Seeber of Figueroa street were hosts recently at a delightfully appointed dinner when members of the family were guests.

Twenty-one reunited relatives partook of the delicious dinner which was served at one large table, made beautiful in the use of yellow and orchid flowers. Other table decorations were carried out in the same colors.

An orchestra made up of members of the family including Mrs. Seeber, piano, Miss Jane Stewart, violin, Marshall E. Stewart, cornet, and Spencer Stewart, saxophone, provided music following the dinner hour when many of the guests joined in the dancing. Besides the usual modern dances several quadrilles and other old fashioned dances whirled away the hours in an entertaining manner.

Miss Jane Stewart, whose home has been in Mesa, Ariz., will spend the following year in Santa Ana. She was concert master at the high school at Mesa and at present is interested in several violin classes in Los Angeles. Miss Jane is planning to attend the local junior college this winter and expects to take an active part in musical affairs there.

Those enjoying the evening were Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Stewart, Miss Jane Stewart, Jack Stewart and W. M. Matlock of Mesa, Ariz.; Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Starbird, Miss Faye Starbird, and the Austin Starbird of Auburn, Kas.; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Matlock and Miss Maxine Matlock of Balboa; U. S. Matlock of Phoenix, Ariz.; Mrs. Iva Sloan, Spencer Stewart, Sloan of Santa Ana; and Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Seeber and children, Marjorie Mae, Mary Jane, and Richard.

Young Hostess Greeted Sorority Sisters at Southern Seas Club

Miss Virginia Slabaugh, lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh of 1523 North Main street, was hostess to a group of young girls, all sorority sisters from Mills college, at a bridge tea at Southern Seas club, Balboa.

The party had been partly planned in order to better acquaint members of the Alpha Chi Omega sorority with pledges of the order.

Those present at the affair included the following students of Mills college: Miss Betty Donahue, of Los Angeles; Miss Alda Mills, of Long Beach; Miss Eleanor Clarke, of Los Angeles; Miss Elaine Seitz, of Los Angeles; Miss Melva D. Jones, of Williamsburg, Ia.; Miss Louise Dixon, of Los Angeles; Miss Marion Abbott, of Los Angeles; Miss Margaret Lytle, of Los Angeles; Miss Kathryn McCook and Miss Dorothy Brill, of San Bernardino; Miss Betty Lou Elson, of Hollywood; Miss Mary Ratharmel, of Fullerton; Miss Marjorie Waite, of Palos Verdes and Miss Margaret Dickson, of Los Angeles.

Former Iowans Picnic At County Park

Orange County park was the scene of much merry-making Sunday when 22 former Iowans gathered there to celebrate important events in the lives of several of the group. The date was the third wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Merlyn R. Burns, the seventh birthday anniversary of Donald Hamann, and the date of the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Poulson in California in the preceding year.

The picnic was also in honor of Mrs. George Madison and sons, Glen and Dean, of Weston, Iowa, who are visiting relatives in this state.

The luncheon table groaned beneath the weight of the many good things displayed there. Chief among the "eatables" was the huge birthday cake, baked in Donald's honor.

Following the dinner guests roamed through the park commenting on the many beauties of the place.

Those who enjoyed the occasion included Mr. and Mrs. Henry Graham, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Graham and Miss Graham of Long Beach; Mrs. Madison and sons of Weston, Iowa; Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Hamann and children of Pomona; Mr. and Mrs. Merlyn Burns and daughter of Orange; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Poulson and children of Santa Ana, and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Burns of Santa Ana.

Marriage in Riverside Is Announced Here

The many friends of the lovely Miss Gertrude Boyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Boyd of 1063 West Second street, and Kenneth V. Cave, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cave were greatly surprised one night last week on reading in The Register that a marriage license had been issued to the young people in Riverside Thursday, July 28.

Young Mr. and Mrs. Cave were also surprised for they had planned to keep their marriage a secret until December.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Jackson, pastor of the First Baptist church of Riverside and took place at his home. The bride was charming in a trim little traveling costume. She was unattended.

At present Mr. and Mrs. Cave are staying at the home of her parents but in less than a week they plan to move into a home of their own.

FOR HOOKED RUGS AT SMALL COST—MAKE THEM YOURSELF!

EXAMPLES OF HOOKED RUGS MADE AT HOME ARE PICTURED HERE. ABOVE ARE MRS. GEORGE A. CLARK, MRS. CLINTON SCHWAMB AND MRS. HAROLD STRATTON OF ARRLINGTON HEIGHTS, MASS., WITH PARTIALLY COMPLETED RUGS, ON THE WORK FRAMES. BELOW IS A DESIGN DONE BY MRS. GARRETT, AUTHOR OF THE ACCOMPANYING ARTICLE.

By SARAH EATON GARRETT For NEA Service

While the craze for hooked rugs runs high, why not hook your own? There is creative joy in watching the flowers and birds emerge from nowhere, and hooked rugs when done add a quaint, pleasing note to any room.

To really appreciate hooked rugs and get yourself in the mood for making one you should know something about their history. For they are one more indication of how we, in this 20th century, are turning back to the art of our ancestors for beauty.

Revolutionary Days
Everybody had hooked rugs in Revolutionary days. The Puritan grandmothers used up all their old scraps of dresses, red flannel undershirts, blankets and household materials making them. Martha Washington even hooked them for Mount Vernon. They were "the" floor covering until the smooth machine-made rugs usurped their place.

The thrifty New England housewife used to save her scraps. Often yarn was used, dyed with leaves and barks gathered in the woods. She used burlap bags that had brought tea from China or sugar from the south for the frame upon which the pattern was drawn and the rug hooked. She utilized all the materials at hand and when a certain color gave out she filled in with another kind of scrap, seemingly not at all perturbed if the change of color came right in the center of a flower.

Designs were copied from old oilcloths, or the flower garden or the family pets formed the motif.

Making Your Own
While antiques give pleasure by their beauty, a woman will never get the thrill out of owning one that she can have if she will hook her own. It is an adventure to see the colorful picture grow under your very own hands.

You can get the softness of antique colors by using faded scraps or dyeing them with pastel shades. Outing flannel pajamas, dresses, old sheets, silk stockings, even the children's play clothes can be washed, cut into half-inch wide strips, and dyed. Set your colors with salt and choose whether your rug will be cotton or wool, as one material should be used throughout. Silks made lovely rugs, but are not durable. You can buy burlap already stamped, or draw your own pattern.

Simple Tools
The only tools you need are a frame, shears, a rug hook and clamps. Make your frame of four pieces of some soft wood two inches wide and a half inch thick. Buy the rest of your implements at the Five and Ten.

Fasten a narrow strip of cloth or ticking to the inside of the frame, with small, smooth-headed tacks. Baste the burlap for your rug to this ticking, pulling it taut.

To begin your rug, take any of the half-inch strips in the left hand under the rug. Push your hook down right on the line of the design, hook up the strip, pull through the burlap, and form a loop, the height depending on how thick you wish to make your rug. One half inch loops make a nice, thick rug.

Having formed the first loop, punch your hook through again, very near the first loop and pull a second loop through to the same height as your first loop. Start in the right hand corner of your pattern and work straight across to the left hand corner. Begin again at the right and work to the left on the second row. Continue until the width of the border is hooked, always drawing the end up on the right side of the burlap and cut even with the loops.

The Design
Now take the colors called for and work out your design. It is a good idea to outline your pat-

For Thursday - Friday
SUPER VALUES! That's what our customers said yesterday as they selected their Blankets for their winter needs. It's real economy to purchase now.

Faribo Virgin Wool Blankets $7.95
Double, all wool bound blanket, size 66x80, in new pretty colors. So fluffy, warm and serviceable for so little money. Be sure and get one of these Thursday.

Nashua Supreme Plaid Blankets, $2.89
Six beautiful colors in this soft, fleecy cotton blanket—either block or broken plaid designs. No blanket manufactured is so popular with the trade and when buying blankets include one at least. Insist on this size, 66x80.

Nashua Part Wool Blankets, $4.19
Many women prefer extra large size blankets and in part wool. Here's a 72x80 double blanket; long woolly nap in new colorings and priced exceedingly low for this sale.

All Wool Single Blanket, $5.95
Many women prefer single blankets—that is if the weight and warmth is in them. This blanket is double woven in solid colors to harmonize with color schemes.

Nashua Nokold Part Wool Blankets, $3.19
This blanket size, 66x80, is shown in six colors, bound with a three-inch satin binding. Priced exceedingly low for this annual sale.

Faribo All Wool Plaid Blanket, $9.95
"The Goodhue" 70x80 virgin wool blanket of fine Australian wool, woven into large block plaids in such colors as: Rose, Gold, Pink, Blue, Grey, Black, Tan and Lavender. This is the finer wool blanket.

Nashua Storm Queen Blankets, $2.19
A double blanket in size 66x80, in large block or broken plaid designs; six beautiful high colors to select from. A very fleecy nap that makes it so desirable.

NOTE:
A feature—An opportunity to buy your Blankets now. You make a deposit on your winter needs and we will hold on "WILL CALL" for later delivery. This permits the purchase of all your blankets at a much lower price than will prevail later on. Take advantage of this at once.

BEACH PAGEANT REHEARSALS TO START FRIDAY

The first rehearsal of "Kitshi Manido," with all of the stars present will be held Friday afternoon, August 5, at one o'clock. There will be present Princess Tsianina, famous Metropolitan Opera house star who is to sing the principal female role in the Laguna Beach Indian Pageant by Isaac J. Frazee; Chief Yowlache, Indian bass cantante who is to have the principal male role; Arlitta, who is to alternate with Princess Tsianina and White Bird, who is to play the part of old Nakomis. Over 100 of Laguna's men, women and children will make up the cast.

The Symphony orchestra, chosen for solo ability as well as concerted work, by Madame Julie Keller, famous harpist, will also be on hand. Madame Keller has written the harp solos. The maestro will be Robert Messenger, formerly with the Walter Damroch orchestra of New York and with various Continental orchestras as well as a soloist with Sousa's band. A remarkable thing about this orchestra is that all of the musicians in it are coming to Laguna Beach for almost nothing so keen is the interest in this Indian epic. The members of the orchestra have consented to remain the entire length of the production and arrangements have been made to provide entertainment for them. Saddle horses, boats, special fishing privileges and many social events will make up the days. The evenings will be devoted to "Kitshi Manido."

Costumes and lighting effects have been procured by Andrew L. Benson, manager of the pageant, for Mr. Frazee, from most interesting in the Indian lore, both artistically and historically.

The opening night will find the boxes filled with men and women well known in the musical, social and official worlds. Reservations have been made for Mr. and Mrs. John Steven McGroarty, of San Gabriel, Father St. John O'Sullivan, of Capistrano, General and Mrs. Henry H. Whitney, Mr. and Mrs. James Savery of Long Beach, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Chandler of Los Angeles, Mrs. Lulu Sanford Teet of Hollywood, Homer Grun, Charles Wakefield Cadman, Miss Anna Fricella Fisher, Earle Blakeley of Ontario, Count and Countess Tolstoi, Colleen Moore, John McCormick, the mayors of Santa Ana, Long Beach, Fullerton, Whittier, Anaheim Orange and Laguna Beach as well as various officials, Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh, Madame Ellen Beach Yaw, Madame Julie Keller, Mrs. H. A. Atwood and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Miller, of Riverside, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bundy, (May Sutton Bundy), Mrs. Elmer Crawford of Santa Ana, David Balts of Los Angeles, Mrs. Irish of the Hollywood Bowl, Miss Florence Lawrence, dramatic critic of "The Examiner," Mrs. Estelle Lindsay of Los Angeles, and other newspaper men and women from the Southland.

Twelve hostesses for the Pageant who will also be in the receiving line for the reception to the stars of "Kitshi Manido," include Mrs. Joseph Thurston, Laguna Beach; Mrs. Elmer Crawford, Santa Ana; Mrs. H. A. Atwood, Riverside, National Chairman of Indian Welfare for the Federated Women's Clubs of America; Madame Julie Keller, sponsor for the Hollywood Bowl production of the Cadman opera, "Shanewis;" Mrs. James Savery of Long Beach; Mrs. F. P. MacPherson of Alhambra; Mrs. J. W. Price of Anaheim; Mrs. Justus Craemer of Orange and Mrs. Thomas E. Cummings, wife of the Mayor of Laguna Beach.

The Pageant grounds will accommodate at least 3000 people. Rising tier upon tier and reached by Indian trails cut into the hillside, the occupants of all seats will be able to hear and see perfectly. The acoustic properties are unusual. A whisper can be heard in the farthest seat.

"Kitshi Manido" has grown from a play put on by the Isaac J. Frazee family at Moosa to the tremendous proportions it now possesses because of the vision of three men, Joseph S. Thurston, who has loaned the Pageant grounds and financed the production, Isaac J. Frazee, the author and Andrew L. Benson, who produced "The Birch of the Poppy" at the San Francisco fair and who became enthusiastic over the possibilities of "Kitshi Manido" as a yearly pageant to be produced in the woods at Laguna Beach.

From August 12 to 21 the Southland can view this epic of the American Indian and reservations may be secured from H. H. Henshaw of Laguna Beach for any night after the first two. These two nights are sold out and Mr. Benson expects hundreds of people to be turned away from the Pageant grounds. Plenty of parking space will take care of the cars.

Seal Beach Will Oppose Repeal Of Channel Measure

SEAL BEACH, Aug. 2.—At a special meeting of the chamber of commerce directors last night it was unanimously voted that a letter be sent to the city council asking that the ordinance in regard to straightening the San Gabriel river flood control channel be not repealed. Los Angeles county has asked that the ordinance be repealed, which would permit extension of the channel into Alamitos bay opposite its entrance from the ocean, but this opposed by most property owners, who believe that it would mean more debris on the beach front, and also endanger property in the eastern part of the city from flood waters.

COUNTY SUPERVISORS MEET THIS EVENING TO PASS ON BUDGET FOR COMING YEAR

The county supervisors will meet in special session tonight to examine and pass upon the budget requirements of the various departments of the county. It is expected that the financial requests will be passed without much change and consolidated into a complete budget for the coming year, Col. S. H. Finley, supervisor of the first district announced today.

AIRPORT VALUE TOLD AT BEACH CITY MEETING

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 3.—That the acquisition of an airport is responsible for the success of many small communities in the east, and that similar acquisition by small cities in the west could be carried out to advantage, was the chief point developed by Vern Speich, president of the Newport Harbor chapter of the National Aeronautic association, who addressed the first meeting of the body last night at the Boy Scout hut.

Steps should be taken by the local organization to acquire a suitable tract near Newport harbor, Speich said. The organization authorized Speich and Antares, secretary, to appoint a committee to work toward obtaining such a tract.

Movie reels are to be introduced into the schools of the city and adjoining communities in an endeavor to educate school children to the importance of aviation, according to decision of the body. This program will be instituted at the next meeting, to be held in the near future. The chapter voted to confine its efforts to obtaining an airport and to a campaign of education.

Besides Speich, speakers at a meeting included J. O. York, who accompanied the pilot of the Ford monoplane, which visited the water airport recently, and Harry Williamson and Felix Modjeska, city councilmen.

The two city councilmen pledged the city to aid air development in this section.

PLAYGROUNDS HERE PROVING POPULAR

Reflecting the growing popularity of the summer playgrounds is the increase in average daily attendance at each playground as compared with the records of last year, this in spite of the fact that there is one more playground in operation than a year ago.

According to figures released by L. W. Archer, superintendent of summer playgrounds, the first week this year the average attendance on each ground was 284 as compared with 238 last year, 207 for the second week, 235 to 264 for the third week, and 278 to 240 for the fourth week. The grand total weekly attendance, including the additional playground this year show a much better increase as follows: 2060 to 1407 for the first week, 1452 to 1218 for the second week, 1998 to 1583 for the third week, and 1946 to 1440 for the fourth week.

SEAL BEACH ROAD OPEN IN 3 WEEKS

SEAL BEACH, Aug. 3.—The state highway through Seal Beach will be reopened for traffic in about three weeks, according to statement made today by the contractors. When the highway was built most of that portion through the city of Seal Beach required a fill and it was deemed best not to permanently pave this until after the dirt had settled.

Contract for paving the fill, both east and west of Main street, was awarded by the state highway commission to Natch brothers, who have made good progress with the work without very much inconvenience to traffic. Central and Electric avenues have taken most of the traffic through Seal Beach with exception of heavy trucks, which have been required to take the inland route to Huntington Beach owing to weight limit on the Anaheim bay bridge.

Unity Class Is Formed At Balboa

BALBOA, Aug. 3.—Interest is growing in the class which has been meeting every Monday evening in the Unity reading room in Balboa. Mrs. Louise Newman, minister of the Long Beach Unity center, is the teacher. Mr. Jacobson, of Balboa, has been instrumental in fitting up the reading room and starting the class. This is the first time there has been a class of this sort in the harbor section.

Open Brea-Olinda Equipment Bids

BREA, Aug. 3.—Bids on equipment for Brea-Olinda high school, which were submitted to the school board last night, were opened, but action was deferred until August 9, when the board will meet again. The bids were referred to the principal and president of the board for consideration until the next board meeting.

ONCE SCRIBE FOR REGISTER IS NOW JUDGE

Thomas C. Gould of Alhambra, who at one time was the entire reporting staff of the Santa Ana Register, yesterday was appointed a judge of the superior court of Los Angeles. The appointment was made by Gov. C. C. Young, Gould being one of 12 judges appointed by Young.

Following his graduation from Pomona college about 1905, Gould came to Santa Ana to do newspaper work as a correspondent for the Los Angeles Times. When The Register was established in November, 1905, Gould became its reporter. In those days, The Register's reporter was city editor, police reporter, courthouse reporter, sporting writer, real estate editor and everything else of the kind.

Soon after The Register started upon its career, Gould moved to Los Angeles, where he took a position as clerk of a court. He studied law, and in 1909 was admitted to practice. He has advanced steadily in the profession. He will resign as city attorney of Alhambra to become superior judge.

TIME OF YEAR HAS EFFECT ON TELEPHONES AT COURT HOUSE

Operators Declare That Busiest Season Comes
When Tax Bills Are Due

MONDAYS, TUESDAYS AND FRIDAYS HEAVY

Farm Bureau Is Popular Place When Fruit Is Beginning to Ripen

Telephones, like everything else, are affected by the season of the year. A conversation with Mrs. Catherine Adams, one of the operators at the booth in the main corridor of the court house, revealed this fact today when she was questioned about the frequency of calls to the various departments of the county government.

In the spring and early summer, when the tax assessor is busy preparing financial jolts for everyone in the county, his department is most popular, or unpopular if you take it that way, and all day long the operators are busy putting the assessor's office in touch with people who want to complain about the size of their figures on their statements.

Then, again, if there is a threatened flu of chicken pox or mumps, a whole flock of telephones want connections with the health department to learn whether the patient should lay in a supply of Smith brothers' or limit his diet to straight pork and beans.

The season of ripening fruit is always foretold at the booth by frequent calls to the farm bureau for information on the best method of reducing the worm and scale population in the county's orchards.

A few minutes spent beside the booth will convince anyone that the girls don't have time to listen in on conversations even if they wanted to.

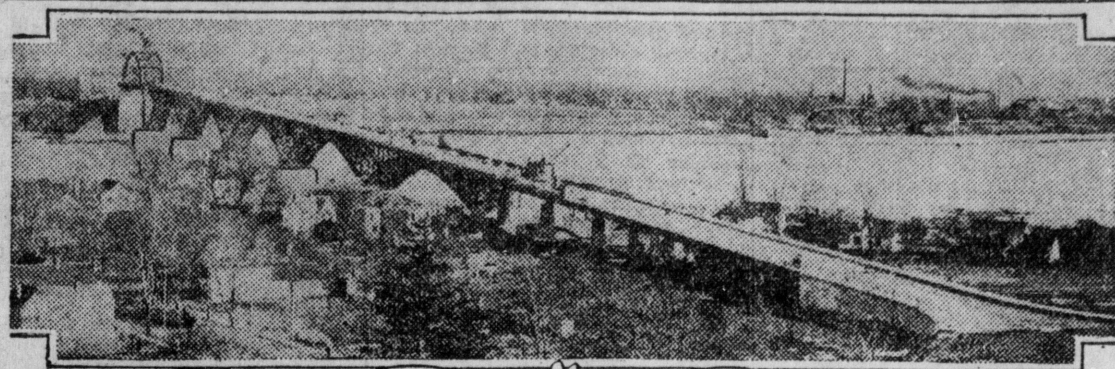

"People's personal affairs don't interest us. We have plenty of our own," the operator commented.

But the frequency of calls to various departments is a pretty fair indicator of what the people at the other end of the line are worried about.

Mondays, Tuesdays and Fridays are the busiest days at the booth, for these days court is in session and calls come in and go out at a dizzy speed. Between 50 and 60 long distance messages go over the wire from the court house every day and each one is recorded so that personnel calls will not be charged to the county.

Throughout the year the health, highway and sheriff's departments are the most often called ones. The operators sometimes find time to give information to court

PEACE LINK WITH CANADA IS READY

The new peace bridge connecting Buffalo, N. Y., and Fort Erie, Canada, has been completed and is to be dedicated Aug. 6. Below are (left to right) the Prince of Wales, Vice President Dawes, Secretary of State Kellogg and Premier Stanley Baldwin, who will assist in the ceremony. The bridge is to commemorate the 100 years of peace between the United States and Canada and serve as a reminder that there are no fortifications on either side of the border from coast to coast.

SPURGEON BOY IS HONORED BY CURTIS FIRM

Billy Spurgeon, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Spurgeon, of 1617 North Main street, has just been notified by telegram that he has been selected for the "Master Rank" in the League of Curtis Salesmen. This is a national organization of boys which is maintained by the Curtis Publishing company, of Philadelphia. In the entire United States there are only 325 boys in the "Master" or highest rank.

Billy won this enviable distinction by making an excellent record as a local representative of this publishing company and in conjunction with his high marks in his school work.

Because of the unusual qualities which a boy must develop to win promotion to the "Master Rank," the Curtis company guarantees to obtain for each master a desirable position with a responsible employer, upon request when the boy has finished school and is ready to take up permanent work. These boys are looked upon by the organization as the logical candidates for positions with them.

Already in its sales division alone four important managerial positions are held by young men who first made good as local sales boys, as Billy Spurgeon has done.

FIRST COUPLE GETS LICENSE
HERE TUESDAY

John Adot, 26, and Leatha Meadows, 24, of Yorba Linda, first couple to receive a marriage license in Orange county under the new law, came to the license bureau early yesterday morning and claimed the coveted document for which they have waited for three whole days.

They were married yesterday afternoon at 3 p. m. at St. Mary's Catholic church in Fullerton at a very quiet wedding, after which they started on a short trip to an unknown point.

Adot drives a new Ford roadster, but it was not quite fast enough last Friday to get the couple to the license bureau before the fatal hour of 5 o'clock, when the last license was issued under the old law. Although J. M. Backs, county clerk, accepted their application, the new law required him to inform the young

GLASS TARIFF MAY BE AID TO LOCAL CONCERN

Possibility of bringing about such tariff protection for the domestic window glass industry as will keep the Standard American Glass company, of Santa Ana, and similar concerns in Southern California operating at profit, instead of loss because of foreign competition, is seen in advice received today from the United States Tariff Commission by F. A. Dixon, manager of the Santa Ana glass company.

In his letter to the local glass concern, Thomas O. Marvin, chairman of the tariff commission, states that representatives of the commission will visit the Pacific coast for the purpose of securing data on window glass manufacturing. Among concerns to be investigated by the tariff experts is the Santa Ana plant, the latter adds. Local inquiries brought out that the Torrance Flat Glass company is another company from which the Washington officials expect to secure information regarding the cost of glass manufacturing.

The action of the tariff commission, inquiries disclosed, is the direct result of representations made by the Santa Ana chamber of commerce, urging more effective protection against foreign competition in the window glass market. In these representations the emphasis was laid on the fact that the American enterprise, launched by American capital and furnishing employment to American labor, was languishing because of competition offered by the Belgian industry.

Considerable credit for the action taken by the tariff commission, Secretary George A. Paymer of the chamber of commerce declared, is due Senator Samuel M. Shortridge who, interesting himself in the premises, laid the matter before the tariff commission.

50-YEAR OLD CAKE
IS CUT AT WEDDING

LYNN, Mass., Aug. 3.—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tyler, former residents of Lynn, Wednesday observed their golden wedding anniversary at their home in Haverhill. A cake baked on their wedding day, a half century ago by Mrs. Elizabeth Tyler, mother of the bridegroom, was cut Wednesday at the dinner table.

Mr. Tyler's father was "The village blacksmith," sung by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow. Mrs. Tyler is a daughter of the late Henry Breed, whose ancestors had considerable to do with the battle of Bunker Hill.

The wedding cake, unsealed, and cut Wednesday was one of two made by the late Mrs. Tyler, the other being enjoyed at the twenty-fifth anniversary observance. At the wedding both cakes were placed in separate boxes sealed and soldered. Assisting in cutting the old cake Wednesday was a Lynn couple who saw the cake sealed up. They were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Soule of Lynn. Mrs. Soule being a sister of Mr. Tyler. They stood up with Mr. and Mrs. Tyler at their wedding.

JIGGS IS DOG,
WELL TRAINED,
BUT HITS PIPE

Canine Member of Peeling
Family Is Well Known
Among His Neighbors

It would be useless to try to persuade Jiggs to join the Anti-Tobacco league because Jiggs is never quite happy without his pipe.

Jiggs is most collegiate in his tastes and carries in his mouth a collegiate sort of pipe, although he has never gone in for wide trousers or racoon overcoats. To be frank, even at the risk of shocking those who hold the conventions greatly in regard, Jiggs has no wardrobe but a white linen collar, a polka-dot blue tie and a rather worn woolen blanket. But Jiggs is satisfied, what dog has more?

Every morning when Jiggs climbs from his basket, he begins a search for his pipe. After breakfast, which he eats sitting on a chair, he starts for work in company with W. V. Peeling, 413 1-2 South Birch street, with his pipe clutched tightly between his teeth. Jiggs has lived with Mr. and Mrs. Peeling for all of the three years of his life.

Jiggs apparently understands the queer language of humans. At a command from Mrs. Peeling he goes docilely to bed and pulls his small, white blankets up over his chin. If it does not happen to be his bedtime, he regards Mrs. Peeling with an inquiring look, no doubt thinking unutterable doggy thoughts, regarding this unreasonable request.

From a wide assortment of playthings, Jiggs will make any selection that is suggested. He is asked to bring a ball from his collection. Well and good, thinks Jiggs, a ball it shall be. A doll, ditto.

Jiggs has had his pipe since he was a mere pup. He knows the usual repertoire of tricks that a bright-eyed dog can learn and a number of others besides. He can do a tail-skip that would make an aviator envious.

Jiggs was not cajoled into learning the things he knows by the gentle or ungente yielding of a rolling-pin. He does not resemble Jiggs of pictorial fame in any way. He does not even care for corned beef and cabbage.

HISTORY OF WAGNER
IN MOTION PICTURE

BERLIN, Aug. 3.—A film entitled "Richard Wagner and 50 Years of Bayreuth" is being prepared simultaneously at Leipzig, Bayreuth and Munich, under the management of Film Director Firmans. It will be brought out this year. The foremost Wagner historians have collaborated in the writing of the scenario, which also calls for the inclusion of the opera performances at the coming Bayreuth festival.

For the production and promulgation of the film a special syndicate has been formed comprising Siegfried Wagner, prominent musical professors and Wagner biographers from all parts of Germany, and director of the Leipzig conservatory, Professor Max Paur, and many notables of Leipzig, Bayreuth and Munich.

Will Educate 11
Children In U. S.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Eleven children of Miguel Bustamante, of Chile, who owns 27 ranches totaling 4 million acres, are to be educated in Indiana. Senor Bustamante sent heretofore to school in Chile time to catch a train to South Bend, explaining: "In Chile they may roam at will, but if I attempted to show them New York they'd be dispersed in an hour." The older boys are going to Notre Dame, the others to St. Mary's school. Their ages range from 2 to 18 years.

Man Expected To

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 3.—The modern girl expects a man to spend from $50 to $100 for an evening's entertainment as the situation is viewed by M. L. Barnhart, vice president of the National Surety company; it was once possible to have a good time for $5, and now the average youth in a position of trust is subject to strong temptation.

Explains Ardent
Rooting Of Fans

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 3.—Now the hot rooting of some hometown baseball fans is explained. They have mental hypertrophy. In the opinion of Dr. Thaddeus L. Bolton, professor of psychology at Temple university. A hypertrophy is a growth like bunions and boils. Mentally, the doctor sets forth, a hypertrophy is manifest in the case of the baseball fan "by a tendency toward overardent hysterical devotion to one particular sport."

COUNTY'S FAIR

Chiefs of Riverside, Paula, Saboba and Capistrano Mission Indian tribes, whose tribesmen will feature the Orange county fair motif, Sept. 5 to 10, by reliving events of the fire dance and medicine man period, met with fair officials at the grounds this week.

Thatched with palm leaves, with eucalyptus poles for supports, a typical Indian village is soon to be built in the walnut groves adjoining the grounds, fair officials said today. A 220-foot ramada, constructed along lines originated by earliest ancestors of the present day missions, will be the six-day home of native Indians built by the Red Men themselves.

This, the first of its kind to be constructed for the white man, according to fair officials, will be a typical Indian village in the minutest detail. Construction will start August 15.

Major Robert S. Dacey, commanding the Second Battalion, 106th Infantry, to which Company F, Orange county's own belongs, will co-ordinate the attack and supervise all features of the Orange county fair war demonstration, it was reported today from regimental headquarters. Col. Harcourt Hervey is directing and advising preliminary plans for the sham battle.

Details were worked out following recent conferences with fair officials at the grounds. Col. Hervey and Captain R. G. Nemo of Los Angeles, and Capt. Donald L. Winans, of Anaheim, Commander, Company F, Santa Ana, went over the field of battle, surveyed the line of fire, and arranged for sand bag ramps to receive the heavy charges of live ammunition.

AIRPLANE SERVICE
PLANNED BY SHIPS

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—The United States line has begun organizing a ship-to-shore airplane service for all its ocean liners, as a result of the successful flight by Clarence Chamberlin in a Fokker biplane from the Leviathan, 100 miles at sea, to the Curtis field, Long Island.

David I. Burke, general manager of the steamship company, radioed the announcement from the Leviathan to the company's New York offices.

The service may be organized by late spring. No approximation of the investment required has yet been made.

Unusual co-operation with immigration, post office and customs authorities will be required for such a service, carrying passengers, mail and merchandise from vessels to land.

RIO JANEIRO, Brazil, Aug. 3.—A law for the suppression of communism in Brazil stands approved by the chamber of deputies, 118 votes to 18 today. Opposition was stronger than indicated by the vote, objections to the measure being that it violates freedom of thought, of speech and of the press and that it is unconstitutional. Sponsors of the measure declared the third international (Moscow) had spent thousands of dollars on communist propaganda in Brazil.

ORANGE COUNTY
TAKE PART IN TRAFFIC SQUAD
GIVEN PRAISE

C. K. Harter, chief inspector of the state traffic department, arrived in Santa Ana today on a short inspection tour of the southern district, and announced that in his opinion, the Orange county squad was the best in the state.

"We have a peppy, well organized squad here, and I only wish that every county in the state had as good a squad," he said.

Orange county, the smallest county in the state, leads in the squads and it's a good record," Harter said, as he complimented Inspector Walter Greer and Captain Henry C. Meehan. He referred to Meehan as a "wide awake captain who knew his business."

Harter will remain here over tomorrow night when he will be a speaker before the Orange County Peace Officers' association, which holds its monthly meeting at Huntington Beach.

His speech will have to do with several of the new laws which recently went into effect, their effect on the traffic officers of the state and on the public.

From here he will go to San Diego and Imperial counties, he said.

ESTABLISHMENT OF
ARMY POST OPPOSED

ARCADIA, Calif., Aug. 3.—Opposition of the Arcadia Chamber of Commerce to the establishment of a battalion of infantry at Ross field is on record here.

In a resolution passed at its regular meeting, the chamber opposed the plan sponsored by Lt. Col. R. E. Frith and Congressman W. E. Evans on the grounds that it would not be "to the best interests of Arcadia."

It has been proposed that 400 men and 50 officers be quartered at the old army post at Ross field. It was announced at the same time that the government had refused an offer of $90,000, made by the city, to convert Ross field into a park.

Catalina Man Is
Willed $25,000

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—The will of Mrs. Jordan L. Mott is interpreted as showing that her son has been forgiven for his elopement 15 years ago with Mrs. Frances Hewitt Bowne, an actress. He is bequeathed $25,000. The rest of the estate goes to Mrs. Mott's husband, wealthy head of the ironworks bearing his name. The son runs a boat line at Catalina Island, Calif.

Prize Offered To German Aviators

BERLIN, Aug. 3.—An anonymous donor has placed 100,000 marks (about $24,000) at the disposal of the German Aero club as a prize for the first German pilot who succeeds in making a trans-atlantic flight. He also has placed 70,000 marks (about $16,800) as a prize for the first German pilot to beat the endurance record of more than 51 hours, established by Clarence Chamberlin.

ORANGE COUNTY
RANKED EIGHTH IN PAYMENT OF GASOLINE TAX

State Apportions $25,864
To This County; Traffic
Cops Salaries Deducted

MOTOR SQUAD HERE ONE OF LARGEST

Over Five Million State
Collections for First Half Of Present Year

Orange county has been apportioned $25,864.25 of its automobile license taxes, collected by the state, according to announcement from Sacramento today.

The $25,864.25 represents the county's share of the tax, after deducting the salaries of traffic officers on duty in this county for the entire year. Remaining apportionments to the county this year will include the county's full half of the tax. Approximately $30,000 more is expected, as the total received from this source for last year was $58,825.70.

The Sacramento announcement shows Orange county in thirteenth place among the counties in the amount of funds received, although it ranks eighth among the counties in the payment of gasoline taxes.

Explanation of this incongruity is believed to lie in the fact that Orange county supports a much larger force of state traffic officers than many of the counties that were apportioned larger amounts. Although this county, being comparatively small in area, has less highway mileage to patrol than the other counties, there is so much more congestion of traffic here that a larger staff of officers is required. That, of course, means heavier deductions from the auto license funds, from which salaries are paid. Last year, the county paid about $50,000 for maintenance of the motor vehicle department, it is said.

An illustration of the point is made in a comparison of the apportionments to Orange and San Bernardino counties. San Bernardino received $71,449.12, which placed that county in fourth place in the state, though it pays a smaller license tax, it is believed, than Orange county. This belief is based upon the statistics covering the gasoline tax, Orange county receiving $248,000 from that source to $228,000 for San Bernardino county.

The state collected $5,486,523.77 for the six months period, the counties receiving $3,061,550.03 of that amount. The apportionment was made as follows:

Los Angeles	$1,215,392.76	San Francisco	$237,721.47
Alameda	$203,662.25	San Bernardino	$71,449.12

OIL OUTPUT AT HIGH LEVEL IN MONTH OF JUNE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Despite movements to curtail production, the output of crude petroleum in June reached new high levels, with a total of 74,538,000 barrels taken from wells in the United States, an average daily production of 2,485,000 barrels, the bureau of mines has announced.

This daily average is 25,000 barrels more than for May. The principal cause for the increase was an advance of 50,000 barrels in daily production in the Seminole field of Oklahoma, which the industry selected some weeks ago as a field where attempts to reduce production would be made.

A "dictator" was appointed there to work out a reduction plan. California showed a 10,000-barrel daily average increase but this was more than compensated for by the decrease in Texas fields.

The Texas Pan Handle production dropped from 4,135,000 barrels in May to 3,800,000 in June. Production in the Seal Beach field in California increased from 1,550,000 barrels in May to 1,926,000 in June.

Daily gasoline production increased slightly over May, but remained under the average for the first six months of the year. Total brought increased domestic consumption and a 41-day supply was on hand at the end of June, compared with 49 in May and 44 in June last year.

people that the next three days must be spent in waiting.

It is said that Adot and his bride-to-be appeared again before the three-day period had elapsed, hoping that through some slip or mistake, they would be able to claim their license.

The license bureau was firm, however, and the couple turned away with another wait in prospect.

Adot and his bride will continue to live in Yorba Linda. Their new home will be in the Holloway apartments. Both have been employed at the Yorba Linda citrus association.

Four applications were filed at the bureau on Saturday, but at noon Tuesday, only two couples had appeared to receive their licenses.

The second couple to appear, Herbert E. Goodwin, 22, and Claire Rosenblatt, 18, both of Los Angeles, took their license away with them this morning, refusing to divulge any plans for their wedding. Goodwin, however, remarked that they were looking for a good judge and was considering the qualifications of several local magistrates when he left the office with his fiancée.

The other two couples who are entitled to licenses today are Aubrey Mathews, 25, of Long Beach, and Juanita Hayden, 21, of Fullerton; Henry J. Schumaker, 21, and Rene E. Wilcox, 21, both of whom are from Hermosa Beach.

house visitors and besides being asked for change to slip into the telephone slot, the girls are requested to act as nurse maids for little children while their mothers attend to other business.

The most striking task any of the operators have been asked to perform was to fill out the application for a marriage license. While Blanche Hill, of the license bureau, was wondering where he had strayed to, a man who could not speak or write English, escaped from her watchful eye and brought his blank to the telephone booth, indicating that he wanted the necessary information filled in. However, Miss Hill rescued him and induced him to return to the office, where an interpreter helped him to complete his task. It is supposed that he had previously found a prospective bride, for the telephone operators were not approached again on the subject.

Lindbergh, Plane Heavily Insured

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—"We" are insured for $150,000 during their tour of the nation. The premium on a $25,000 policy on Colonel Lindbergh's life, with his mother as the beneficiary, was $598.25. Other policies written by four companies are: $15,000 on the Spirit of St. Louis if destroyed by fire; $10,000 for property damage and $100,000 for public liability. Any aviator may now have his life insured for a special premium.

Dog Eats Up $10 Bill, 2 Rescued

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—John Mark has a Scotch terrier that eats $10 bills with a relish. John is a Chinese laundryman. While he was out a customer was so amazed by the dog's chewing at a roll of bills on the floor that he called the police. When they arrived the dog had consumed one note. Two others were rescued from him. Then John came in with meat he had been buying for the dog. He explained that he had hidden the money in his bunk. The police arrested him for having a pistol without permission.

AT THE THEATERS

Norma Talmadge, as she appears in "Kiki," photoplay now at the Yost Spurgeon theater.

Mary Brian and Ralph Forbes in a scene from "Beau Geste," picture opening tonight at the West Coast-Walker.

WEST COAST-WALKER

One of the most carefully selected motion picture casts and one that contains many "big" names, has been brought together for "Beau Geste," which opens today at the West Coast-Walker theater.

Ronald Colman plays the title role, that of Michael or "Beau," the eldest of the three young brothers, English aristocrats who sacrifice all for each other. Neil Hamilton is the second brother, "Digby," and Ralph Forbes, playing his first screen role in America, the youngest, "John."

Alice Joyce, one of the screen's most beautiful women, and Mary Brian, are the two—and the only two—principal feminine players.

Noah Beery was assigned to what critics declare to be one of the finest character roles in the history of motion pictures, that of the brave, brutal sergeant of the French Foreign Legion with whom the three brothers go to the Sahara desert to appear in one of the strangest, most dramatic and tragic of real life exploits.

Of scarcely less importance are the roles played by Norman Trevor, a major in the Legion, and William Powell, George Rigas, Victor McLaglan, Bernard Siegel and Donald Stuart as enlisted men.

Four of the most important child screen parts of the year are enacted by Maurice Murphy, Philippe de Lacy and Micky McBan, who portray the three brothers in an early sequence, and Betsy Ann Hise, appearing as Mary Brian.

Herbert Brenon directed this huge production at an encampment of 2000 men on the desert, southwest of Yuma, Arizona.

The stage show is under the supervision of Jack Stern, popular band leader. Stern promises high class entertainment for the current show.

TEMPLE THEATRE

The most typical Charles Ray picture that the star has had for a long time is "Sweet Adeline," which closes tonight at the Temple theater. As the hero, the dreaming country boy whose far-fetched visions finally materialize into reality, Ray makes one of the finest and subtlest characterizations of his career.

The next three days will be laugh days at the Temple where "April Fool," will be the attraction. Alexander Carr of "Potash and Perlmutter" fame, who assumes the role he created on the stage in the screen production, dominates a fine cast.

CLANFONI BAND WILL FEATURE FINE OVERTURE

Thursday evening's program to be presented at Birch park by Santa Ana Municipal band, D. C. Clannoni, director, will feature the famous overture from Rossini's well known opera, "La Gazza Ladrata." (The Magpie.) A grand operatic selection from G. Verdi's popular "Il Trovatore" and vocal selections by the local Lions' club quartet will be included among other interesting numbers. Members of service clubs and organizations will be honored guests for the evening.

"La Gazza Ladrata" was first produced in 1817 in the "La Scala" theater of Milan. The libretto of the opera was arranged by the poet Gherardini, and famous artists taking part in the first presentation included Bellini, Gallani, Monelli, Botticelli, Galli and Ambrosi.

The story of the opera is briefly outlined as follows: Fernando Villabella, condemned to death for infraction of military law, succeeds in escaping from prison, and calls upon his daughter Ninetta, employed as a servant in the home of a wealthy family. She has been wrongly accused of stealing jewelry and other articles which continue to be missing. While talking with her father, and as they comfort one another, they are interrupted by the village chief of police, who comes to accuse Ninetta of stealing. Fernando is forced to hurriedly conceal himself, but hearing the chief's accusations, rushes from his hiding place to his daughter's aid, thus disclosing his identity. The real thief is then discovered to have been a magpie, the bird having been seen by Pippo, another servant, when it entered the window, carrying away the jewelry in its mouth. Ninetta is thus proven innocent.

Gioacchino Rossini, one of Italy's most representative composers, was born in Pesaro, Feb. 29, 1792. His father was a singer and mediocre actress, belonging to a strolling theatrical troupe. His musical talent became evident at an early age, but detesting drudgery, he would not submit to a scientific musical education, picking up considerable knowledge in a haphazard fashion. Making rapid progress under his first teacher, Angelo Teschi, he joined the troupe as singer, horn-player and accompanist, when a mere boy.

Studying composition with Padre Matti and cello with Cadevagni at the Liceo Musicale of Bologna, he wrote his first opera, "Demetrio e Polibio" when only 14. At 15 years of age, he produced a prize-winning cantata, and at 17, produced the successful one-act opera buffa, "L'equivoco Stravagante."

In 1812 Rossini wrote five successful operas, scoring successes in 1813 with "Tancredi" and "L'italiana in Algeri," becoming immensely popular and establishing his reputation throughout Europe as the best-known composer of his day. "Elizabetta" and "Barbiere di Siviglia" were produced in 1815, followed by "Semiramide." With 14 years he wrote over 30 operas, traveling extensively and working under high pressure, possessing immense rapidity of execution.

His last and most famous work "William Tell," was brought out in 1826. Following this, he led a life of luxury and inaction in Paris, wasting his talent in dissipation, though at his death in 1868, he left a large legacy to found a home for aged musicians. Rossini was the first man to improve orchestral scores by using wind instruments, which were new at that time. His music is especially noteworthy for its wealth of sensuous, melodic beauty.

YOST THEATER

Norma Talmadge, usually associated with dignified, romantic roles, has turned comedienne in "Kiki," which comes to the Yost theater tonight. This is a picturization of the famous Belasco stage hit.

Miss Talmadge enacts the role of the devil-may-care walt who wants a taste of life—and gets it with a vengeance.

The lovely Norma's new leading man is Ronald Colman, who, as a wealthy Paris theater manager, takes "Kiki" into his heart, but discovers he has befriended a human paradox.

Other well known players in the supporting cast are Gertrude Astor, Marc MacDermott and George K. Arthur.

WEALTH INCREASES

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—The wealth of George F. Baker has been increasing lately at least one million dollars a week on paper. Shares of the First National bank, of which he is chairman, are now quoted at $3.125, an advance of $250 in about a month. He holds 20,000 shares.

EX-PRINCIPAL OF SANTA ANA HIGH IS HERE

Visiting Santa Ana for the first time in a decade of years, with the exception of a few hurried trips which did not afford him opportunity to see the changes which have taken place here, Dr. Ira Woods Howarth, professor of sociology at the Colorado State Teachers College, Greeley, Colorado, and at one time—some 36 years ago—principal of the Santa Ana high school, today declared that the growth of Santa Ana and surrounding country is one of the marvels in the development of the southland.

Dr. Howarth, accompanied by Mrs. Howarth, arrived here yesterday on a trip around the world. While here they are the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Morris, 812 East First street. At San Francisco they will connect with the trans-Pacific liner President Jefferson, departing on August 6 for Honolulu, Japan, China and the Philippine Islands. Following a short stay in Manila, where Dr. Howarth will make a brief study of the educational system, the couple will proceed to India, thence to Egypt and the Holy Land, bringing their trip to a close in Europe.

Dr. Howarth was enthusiastic about Santa Ana, and as an educator, was especially interested in the growth and development of the county's secondary educational institutions, including the two junior colleges. He was loud in his praise of the progressive spirit of the people of Orange county, reflected in its magnificent school buildings.

"Santa Ana is one of the most delightful communities I know and its high cultural standard and splendid educational facilities make it the ideal home city," the erstwhile principal remarked.

Since leaving Santa Ana in 1891, Dr. Howarth has held different positions at leading universities in the country. Following post graduate work at Harvard university, he accepted a position at the University of Chicago. He left the Windy City to accept the chair of sociology at the University of California, which he held for five years. In addition to having served on a number of important commissions dealing with educational problems, he has written a number of books on educational subjects.

Dr. Howarth was the organizer of the Monday club, probably the oldest organization of its kind in existence in the city. It is primarily a discussion club.

WASHINGTON LETTER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Senator J. Boonboom McWhorter regards with a certain good-humored tolerance the current crop of tattooed paper hangers, one-eyed vegetarians and sex-starved elephant scrubbers who are daily enrolling themselves among the national immortals by setting new endurance records for flagpole perching, curbstones sitting, chair rocking and introspection.

The senator, who often comments upon news and trends of the day, harks back to the days of his youth when his prowess in such contests gained him such prestige as to win for him his first election to congress.

"Back in my old district," says McWhorter, "they'll tell you that maybe I didn't hold all the records, but I held most of 'em. Those were the days when they used to go in for those things and a man who could stand on one leg longer than anyone else in the county was rewarded as he deserved."

It was with great reluctance that the modest McWhorter was finally prevailed upon to describe some of his feats and then only because it was pointed out to him that his words might be an inspiration for the country's youth.

Senator Cuts Loose
"When I was a boy of 10," began the senator, "I was only old enough for a few of the contests and was forced to gaze with envy at the champion oyster eaters, mirror readers, pin savers and candle chowers as they strutted around the streets of our town. I made up my mind that I, too, would get my name into the weekly paper."

"Despite the scoffing of my friends and family, I finally began in a small way by entering a skootching tournament. I skootched down and stood up 4558 consecutive times, taking the championship away from a grown man who had held it in those parts for six years. The erstwhile scoffers carried me around on their shoulders and my parents admitted for the first time that I might some day amount to something."

"The next year I had the nerve to try to rob my Aunt Fanny of what was known as the strip-cutting championship. This sport, open for both sexes, was to see who could cut out the most full-length strips from a newspaper page. I was counted out in the championship contest because some of my strips were so thin the committee couldn't quite discern them, so that my Aunt Fanny held the title as long as she lived, along with the string-saving championship which I never tried to take away from her."

And He Blew Foam
"Some of the roughest men staged foam blowing contests and one day I entered one of these, though you must understand that I never let my lips touch the dirty stuff. Those were the days when beer had foam and the trick was to blow the foam from atop the stein for the greatest possible distance. The winner was always allowed free beer and the prestige he gained was immense. Well, up to the time I got into the game all the best foam blowers agreed that the most successful method was to get 30 or 40 feet away and then run like mad toward

Detroit Mayor Visits Germany

BERLIN, Aug. 3.—The little Saxon town of Tuttingen, in Wurttemberg, is greatly excited over the unexpected recent visit of Mayor John Smith, of Detroit. Mayor Smith, whose mother was born at Tuttingen, came unannounced and asked whether his uncle, 85 years old, and his aunt, 73, were still alive. They were. Villagers showed him where they lived. The astonishment of the old people at the meeting with "Hannes from America" was great. The news spread rapidly and the whole village was soon in an uproar over the visit of the "boy" who had honored his mother's birthplace by becoming "burgomaster" of an American city.

SAMOAN ISLAND IS FRONTIER OF CIVILIZATION

NATIVE VILLAGE, Manua Group, U. S. Samoa—I'm going to write a book and call it "The South Seas—Why We Love 'Em But Leave 'Em," declared a visitor to this barren, primitive island.

This village is a million years, more or less, behind the march of civilization, progress and enlightenment. It is as squat as the natives who forever squat, or sit, knees akimbo on their grass mats and smoke vile tobacco, who eat huge quantities of naked taro, drink brackish water and gorge themselves until they literally fall over in a faint and sleep for three or four hours.

Here amidst the primeval glory of nature, where palms fringe the shore and stone walls are unknown, and where no raucous horns tell of rushing motors, we find life "as she was lived hundreds of years ago."

In this last outpost of humanity are found the dregs of civilization—perhaps the leavings of some Andantean glory or the fizzle out of some other life. The natives are satisfied to live on and on, building their beaver-like, clever houses, weaving mats and continually gorging, sleeping and increasing the population. Scenically this place is a paradise with blue skies, dense green vegetation, palms in stately but natural gardens, lovely banana plantations, taro and flowers everywhere. The beach is the most pristine and glorious strip of strand one could imagine.

The construction of a Samoan house takes months of tedious, tiny detail work. It resembles a great inverted basket, stuck up on four feet poles, floored with broken coral, covered with Lau Fala mats. The work is beautiful, actually astonishing.

the beer, blowing for all you were worth on reaching it, on the theory that your momentum added force to your breath. I exploded that theory by standing directly behind my stein and blowing the foam 15 feet, as against the previous record of 15 feet, seven inches.

"As a matter of fact, I am still the retired, undefeated champion barrel piler of the county of my birth. I piled barrels one on top of another until they threatened me with arrest for exceeding the building ordinance limits. "But those glorious days are about over in my district now. One of the last contests they put on was when all the women tried to see who could wear the least clothes without going to the hoosegow. Of course I was merely an interested spectator at this, the betting on my best girl. The craze for this kind of contest finally spread all over the country and apparently they haven't yet picked the winner."

Evangelistic Services

Best of Music Under the Leadership of

Dr. F. E. Zeller, D. C.

America's great need is religion. What kind? Is there a safe and sane Evangelism? Is there a middle ground between a cold orthodoxy and a repulsive extremism?

You may hear a direct and simple exposition of the scriptures in these services.

ALL ARE WELCOME

YOUNG PEOPLE OF CITY PLAN UNION SERVICE

Union services for the young people of 10 Santa Ana churches will be held in the lobby of the city Y. M. C. A. building over a period of five Sundays, beginning this month, according to details worked out by a general committee which met last night to complete the arrangements for the meetings.

The question, "Do We Need Religion," is to be discussed next Sunday.

The attendance is expected to approach 150 for the meetings. Services have been held annually but this year more churches have joined than in previous years. Two new churches, the Richmond Avenue Methodist and the First Congregational, are this year added to those uniting in the union meetings.

Each Sunday meeting at 8:30 o'clock, immediately following the union church services in Birch park, the young people are to convene for their special sessions.

The entire program for the meetings was drawn up by the general committee last night. Leaders were appointed. For the first meeting, August 7, Lyle Cook will lead the discussion of the question concerning the need for religion; for August 14, Newton Pierce has the topic, "How Is God Revealed to Us?" August 21, Miss Grace Elliott has the subject, "How May We Live in the Kingdom of God?" August 28, John Winterbourne directs the discussion of "Jesus' Teachings about World Brotherhood," and September 4, John Steele discusses "Jesus, the Savior of All Men."

A program with music and scripture reading will be conducted. Newton Pierce and Morton Stephenson were appointed music leaders. Tom Oglesby, of the South Methodist church is general chairman and Miss Mary Griset, of the First Presbyterian church, is in charge of the programs.

At the conclusion of each of the meetings, a summary of the discussions will be given by some older leader. The churches joining in the union services for the young people are the Richmond Avenue Methodist, the Spurgeon Memorial, the United Presbyterian, the First Baptist, the United Brethren, the First Congregational, the First Christian and the First Evangelical church.

Members of the general committee meeting last night were Mary Griset, presiding; Tom Oglesby, Robert O'Brien, Mary Blakeman, Rebecca Oglesby, Charles Lewis, Marie Morgan, Helen Drake and Lyle Cook. The Rev. O. Scott McFarland, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, met with the group as advisor.

TOP HATS ARE NOT POPULAR AT GENEVA

GENEVA, Aug. 3.—While talking about the scrapping of auxiliary ships, the tripartite conference on naval limitation has virtually discarded an auxiliary to the well-dressed man, namely the silk high hat for evening wear.

At the formal dinners that punctuate the delegates' evenings, it is the exception for a guest to arrive in a top hat.

Baron Saito, being every inch an Admiral and statesman, is virtually the only one of the conference leaders to cling to the high headgear. The others retain their soft felt hats of the day, or turn up with straw hats. One British delegate reported at an official function in a golf cap.

Even such a rigid gentleman of the old school as M. le Comte de Clauzel, France's unofficial "informant" at the conference, has discarded the traditional headgear. With evening dress he wears a soft black felt.

TRASH COLLECTORS OF CITY WASTE MUCH TIME BECAUSE PEOPLE DO NOT CO-OPERATE

That closer co-operation by the residents of Santa Ana would enable the street department to cut in half the labor cost in collecting combustible trash was revealed today by Clyde Jenken, street superintendent, who pointed out that failure to place grass and weeds in boxes for collection makes it necessary for the city employees to spend twice as much time in gathering this variety of refuse as they spend in collecting tin cans, bottles and other non-combustible refuse.

MELLON TAKES VACATION ON FOREIGN SEAS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon, the hardest working official of the government, is taking his first real vacation in years.

Somewhere on the Mediterranean Sea, Mellon with his family, Mr. and Mrs. David E. K. Bruce and his son Paul, are on the yacht Valentinia visiting old ports and just drifting.

Mellon has taken a vacation every year but usually he combines business with pleasure. On his previous trips abroad he visited statesmen of foreign nations and discussed financial problems. This trip is for pleasure only.

The secretary decided on the Mediterranean voyage in order to have a family reunion, to avoid process servers and to rest.

His daughter, Mrs. Bruce, has been in Paris and Rome for several years, where her husband has been assigned in consular service and his son, Paul, has been away to college.

The 73-year-old financial wizard, virtually alone in the world, living alone in Washington, planned the trip to become acquainted with his children.

Then, too, Mellon is one of the most sued men in the country. Being a millionaire and a federal official in charge of the government's finances, he is bombarded with damage suits of every description.

Recently when a process server called at his office he welcomed the man with a smile and remarked, "another one?" Then he laughingly said, "I get these summons about once a week but they haven't got me in jail yet."

soon have to find another dumping ground.

Approximately $70 worth of brass and lead is reclaimed from the pile every month by employees at the farm, reducing somewhat the cost of trash collection. The street department recently issued a folder explaining the method of collection and outlining the schedule for various parts of the city. Residents of Santa Ana have co-operated admirably in observing the schedule regulations in all respects except boxing the grass, Jenken declared. It is thought that if more care were exercised in this respect, the whole service might be placed on a still higher plane as a result of the increased time available for improving the work.

That "money-in-the Bank of Italy" feeling

ARE you among the hundreds of thousands of depositors of this institution who are establishing a substantial barrier against dependence and want through a savings account?

Over one million depositors of California's bank of the people enjoy this wonderful money-in-the-bank feeling—one that is so conducive to peace of mind, health and happiness.

Why not add your name to this vast throng of sterling people—energetic men and women from every walk of life—industrious citizens who are helping to keep California prosperous?

What Do YOU Think of This?

Over here we have credit.
Clothing store credit.
Some men prefer to buy this way. But credit costs somebody money.

That's one way of doing business.

Over here we have cash.
Cash means buying power for the merchant. Cash means that you, Mr. Buyer, make the savings.

That's our way of doing business.

Addressed to the Man Who Wants to Save $10 on a Suit of Clothes

If you really want to save money on clothes, then pay cash at this store and do it!

Why pay $35, or more, for the same style, the same fabric and the same fit, when you can buy a suit here for $25?

If somebody handed you a $10 bill, wouldn't you take it?

Here we offer you an endless number of patterns from a new, clean, fresh stock. Your size is here. We can fit you whether you're tall, fat or short. You'll find the style you want, snappy or conservative.

All our suits are just one price—one low cash price.

We're not running a sale. Our prices are always the same. Summer or winter, in-season and out, all the time. Twenty-Five Dollars!

If paying more than we ask is a "hobby" with you—then you won't be interested.

But if you stop and realize that cash does save you money, then you'll come in.

This is a one policy, one price establishment.

And our word is our bond—every suit or pair of pants you buy here is sold on an unconditional and absolute Money Back Guarantee.

It pays to pay cash when you buy pants, too. We offer a range of patterns, fabrics and sizes that will fit and suit any man.

Our price (one price only), is $5.00.

Gray pants, tan pants, dark pants and light pants—including flannels.

FAMOUS MOUND
ACE, JOHNSON

$16,000 in Checks, Medal
Set in Diamonds, Other Gifts Presented Idol

By PAUL FREDRIX
(United States Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Mrs. Walter Johnson sat on the back steps. She had just received a letter from her living room, filled with fresh flowers, and her dining room, with its new silver set.

Walter Johnson, 32, Eddie, 9, and Bobbie, 5, played in the yard with the four pedigreed fox hounds. Caroline, 4, looked longingly at the new bottle of perfume. Barbara, 1, slept on the new puppy under her crib.

Square-jawed, curly-haired Walter Johnson sat on the back steps. He had brought all these trophies—and many others—home last night. At his side lay a sheaf of telegrams from friends, many of whom he had never seen. At the top was a letter from Calvin Coolidge saying nice things to him.

League Ows Him Medal
In one of Walter's pockets was a $1000 gold bauble set with 20 diamonds—the American league's "Distinguished Service" medal, struck to honor his 20 years of big league baseball.

In his wallet were two brand new checks totaling some $16,000—testimonials from his boss, Clark Griffith, and nearly 20,000 fans who had just started his twenty-first pitching season for Washington yesterday.

Rather decent of them to give him all those things right there in front of the home plate and cheer him so loudly, hey? Rather decent to yell "Speech, Walter! Speech!" Right after Secretary of State Kellogg got through telling them what an up-right citizen Walter was.

Well, Walter had thanked them the best he knew how—had passed a hand over a twitching mouth, gone straight up to the microphone and stammered: "You folks know I sure do appreciate this."

Sitting on his back steps this morning Walter repeated he was thankful for all the "kind favors." Sort of comforting to know they'd help keep the wolf away when the old right arm went dead.

"But say," Walter said suddenly. "Do I act as old out there on the mound as they seem to think I am? I'm only 39, you know. I intend to pitch next year and the next. I want to keep pitching as long as they'll have me."

Wants to Keep Pitching
"My arm isn't as fast as it used to be and my bad leg may keep me from taking a regular turn on the hill, but I feel I have a lot of winning games in me yet. Do you think I'll burn out soon?" There was no answer for that.

TIERNANS, PLATTS WINNERS
IN TWIN BILL; GROCERS AND LUMBERMEN TANGLE TONIGHT

Blauer's grocery and the Santa Ana Lumber company, first and second place teams in the Santa Ana Night Baseball league, are prepared for their crucial encounter at Lincoln park this evening following the double-header at Lincoln park last night in which the Tiernan Typewriter company and the Platt Silvertowns emerged victorious and remained in hottest pursuit of the two pace-makers.

CITY OFFICIALS IN CONFERENCE WITH PORTLAND

Nine city and county officials were scheduled to go in conference this afternoon with Manager Ernie Johnson and other dignitaries relative to the establishment of the proposed spring training camp of the Portland baseball club at the Orange County Fair grounds. The delegation left Santa Ana at noon and was to meet with Johnson after attending the game between Portland and Hollywood. Those in the party were Frank L. Purinton, W. J. Kelly and W. G. Knox, city councilmen; Harry Lake, chairman of the Orange County Fair Board association; George Raymer, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce; Alex Brownridge, cashier of the Farmers and Merchants Savings bank; Ed Vegely, city clerk; Clyde Jenken, city engineer; and Jack Wallace, realtor. The local party is highly hopeful of bringing the Ducks here next spring.

IMLAY DENIES DIVORCE YARN
SALINAS, Calif., Aug. 3.—Talma ("Tut") Imlay, 1925 football captain of the University of California, denied today he had taken his wife to Reno, Nev., so she might obtain a divorce. "I have not been to Reno and I do not believe my wife has been there," Imlay said when asked if they had separated.

FORMER COAST LEAGUER NOW CUB MOUND ACE

Root Example of How One Great Moundsman Can Put Club in Race

One outstanding pitcher very often can keep a club in the pennant race. The Chicago Cubs have such a person in Charley Root.

During the first half of the season he registered 15 victories and perhaps saved 10 others in relief roles. He is one of the few pitchers in the majors with a chance to win 30 games, an almost unheard-of feat in these days of animated baseball.

Last season the superb pitching of George Uhlen, who scored 27 victories, made Cleveland a strong pennant contender. This season Uhlen has shown a complete reversal of form and the Indians are well down in the second division. Pitching means much.

It is an interesting fact that Charley Root, like George Uhlen, came from the sandlots to the big show without any previous professional experience. Unlike Uhlen, it was about four years before Root definitely arrived.

Seven years ago a scout of the St. Louis Browns saw Root doing his stuff in amateur circles at Middletown, Ohio. He signed him. Regarded as not quite ready, Root was shipped to the Terre Haute club of the Central league for seasoning.

Root spent the seasons of 1921 and 1922 doing his best to please the Terre Haute folks. He had reasonable success, since he had a mark of better than .500 for the two years spent there.

The scouts then pronounced him ready and he was recalled by the Browns in 1923. He tarried for one season in the American league, although given but few opportunities to prove his worth. He was usually dropped into some game that was hopelessly lost. The record for the year charge him with four defeats and no victories. The Browns parted with him

'PLAY FAIR, WORK HARD' IS WALTER JOHNSON'S FORMULA FOR SUCCESS, EVANS WRITES

BY BILLY EVANS
When I asked Walter Johnson for the success formula he used during his career as a ball player, he laconically replied: "Play fair and work hard."

Those five words tell the story of the remarkable success and world-wide popularity that Johnson has achieved over a period of 20 years as a big league pitcher. Without fear of contradiction, I say that Walter Johnson is the most beloved ball player in all the history of the game. There is no better way to judge one's standing than in the rank and file of the profession in which one is engaged. Ask any ball player who knows Walter Johnson how he regards him and the reply is always the same:

"He's a great pitcher and an even greater fellow."

Walter Johnson hasn't an enemy in baseball from bat boy to league president. He has been one of the players that has more than done his bit in uplifting the game to its present high standard.

Trying to get some inside dope on Johnson's methods, I asked him of all the great batsmen he had ever faced which one was hardest to fool. His reply was typically modest:

"They're all tough. Any player capable of making the big league grade isn't to be treated lightly by a pitcher."

"It would surprise you if I said some batsmen, generally regarded as weak hitters, have been most troublesome to me."

"Take Everett Scott, who for years was one of the star shortstops of the American league. Scott was far from a .300 batter, but was

KID MEXICO IN NEW COMEBACK
BOUT TONIGHT

On confirmation of the fact that Kid Mexico, veteran middleweight, has been earnestly preparing himself for a period of three months previous to his sensational comeback against "Whitey" Black and is even now going through secret workouts at his Huntington Beach quarters, a jury of fight peers today voted: "the Kid is as crazy as a fox!"

Mexico is taking his comeback as seriously as did Jack Dempsey and not unlike the ex-heavyweight champion, the veteran Mexico may spring the greatest local boxing upset in years by stopping young Leo Mitchell before the conclusion of his 10-round main event at Wilmington tonight.

From authoritative sources it was learned yesterday that Mexico dons his heavy roadwork gear long before the midnight shift of Huntington Beach oil workers even think of knocking off tower and hits the road for a five-mile spin.

Kid Likes Roadwork
It is said that he pulls up at the end of his jaunt scarcely breathing hard. This is identical with the same manner and method Dempsey applied in conditioning himself for the Sharkey fight.

The main difficulty an old-timer encounters when attempting a comeback is the fact that his legs give out and he becomes leg-weary and wobbly. Mexico, one of the craftiest boxers hereabouts, with almost 600 fights to his credit, is accredited with knowing more about conditioning than the rank and file of fighters performing before the public today.

Mexico stated that he would slack up in his work as he was at least six pounds under the required weight limit and feared going stale or giving away too much as he has been during the last week.

H. B. Followers Confident
Mexico's Huntington Beach followers in addition to hundreds of local boxing followers, are backing him to defeat Mitchell. It was reported today that odds of 10-5 were being placed on the veteran. General opinion seems to have it that the fight will terminate in a knockout over the tenth round and as a result considerable wagering is being made along that line.

The majority of Mexico's backers favor the kayo. They have little confidence in his ability to travel the distance, but are just as firmly convinced that Mitchell has no more chance of going the distance against him than he has of lasting the route.

OLD CAFE BANKRUPT
BERLIN, Aug. 3.—Borchardt's, once the most famous of Berlin restaurants, patronized by European courts, the officers of the Guard, and the diplomatic corps, has after long financial difficulties, become bankrupt. The bankrupts at the Court of St. Petersburg and the dinners of the former Kaiser and the former Sultan in Constantinople and Damascus in 1898, were supplied by Borchardt.

CITY HALL FINDS POSTMEN
EASY IN TWILIGHT LEAGUE

Suffering their most severe setback of the season, the Post Office fell, 22 to 7, before a hard-hitting City Hall ball club in yesterday's Santa Ana Twilight league mixup at Lincoln park.

The Third and Main street representation attacked Seth Bullock so savagely in the first three innings that he was forced to give way to Langley who also found the going rough and rocky. R. Bracamontes led the "Hall" gang with four runs and four hits. Lancaster, pitcher for the winners had the situation in hand all the way but he eased up under his long lead at the end.

Commission Will Not Try To Punish Promoter for Taking Bout to Chicago

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Now that Tex Rickard has gone to Chicago definitely with his Tunney-Dempsey championship fight, the fans here are wondering what the New York boxing commission will do to him.

The answer is—nothing. Talk of reprisals against Rickard during the coming winter indoor season is idle because the commission couldn't do anything to Rickard even if it wanted to get even with him.

Rickard, the commission said, promised to hold the championship bout in New York if the commission would permit him to charge $27.50 for the Dempsey-Sharkey fight. Rickard denied it.

It is to be doubted seriously, however, that the commission wants to get even with Rickard. The secretary of state and the commission, under whose supervision it acts, are in the clear, politically, and politics count just as much in the New York game as the interests of the customers.

In the event that "taxpayer" attempts to hold the administration to blame for the loss of revenue to the state treasury from a $2,000,000 fight or better, the secretary of state and his subsidiary commission can defend themselves with the plea that they did everything in their power to keep the fight in New York.

It has been pointed out that Rickard might be harassed by the commission in his efforts to make matches in the Garden this winter but no state body would look well in the role of a pouting school boy engaged in petty methods of getting even.

From several reliable sources of information it was learned that the commission isn't mad at Rickard at all and up to the present time no mass meeting of the taxpayers has been held to demand that Rickard's citizenship papers be revoked and that he be deported.

ESTELLE RECOVERING FROM NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 3.—Estelle Taylor, film actress and wife of Jack Dempsey, was reported to be recovering today from a nervous breakdown that for a time threatened to cause postponement of the Dempsey-Tunney bout in Chicago.

"Mrs. Dempsey is much improved today and is on the road to recovery," attendants at the Dempsey home said.

Dempsey was reported "out on the road" early today and this was taken as a favorable indication that he will continue his training plans for the match with Tunney.

"Estelle nearly had a nervous breakdown, because of worry over the Sharkey fight," Dempsey told friends. "After the Tunney fight in Philadelphia I was pretty badly messed up, and she was worrying herself sick because she was afraid I might be similarly hurt in the Sharkey fight."

"She feels a lot better now, has regained her confidence, and I am sure will be feeling fine by the time of the Chicago fight. A lot of writers gave her the idea that I was an old man practically going into the ring on crutches," Dempsey said.

The ex-champion is said to be considering Battle Creek as a possible training camp site but due to his wife's illness no definite plans in this respect have been made.

Colima, Auerbach
Olympic Winners

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 3.—Bert Colima took nine of the 10 rounds to win the decision handily from Everett Strong. Only in the eighth round did a brief flurry give Strong an even break in that session.

Herman Auerbach, Salt Lake, galloped to an easy win over Paul De Hate in the other ten rounder. De Hate was knocked through the ropes in the third round, and on subsequent occasions attempted to claim a foul.

CITY HALL FINDS POSTMEN
EASY IN TWILIGHT LEAGUE

Suffering their most severe setback of the season, the Post Office fell, 22 to 7, before a hard-hitting City Hall ball club in yesterday's Santa Ana Twilight league mixup at Lincoln park.

The Third and Main street representation attacked Seth Bullock so savagely in the first three innings that he was forced to give way to Langley who also found the going rough and rocky. R. Bracamontes led the "Hall" gang with four runs and four hits. Lancaster, pitcher for the winners had the situation in hand all the way but he eased up under his long lead at the end.

POULTRY FEED COST IS HELD NOT EXCESSIVE

Officers For Persimmon Group Elected

TUSTIN, Aug. 3.—The directors of the recently organized Persimmon Growers of Southern California have met and elected their officers for the first year. They are A. J. McFadden, Irvine, president; George Shattuck, Tustin, vice-president, and H. R. Smith, Tustin, secretary.

A number of committees to investigate the problems of the growers have been appointed, including packing house facilities, boxes and wrappers, labels and brands, picking and packing and marketing.

The presumption that Orange county poultrymen are required to pay comparatively excessive prices for their feeds, has been exploded by the report of the committee appointed by the poultry department of the Orange County Farm Bureau to investigate feed prices.

That Orange current feed prices in Orange county are higher than in some other Southern California centers is true, but the increase is so slight as to make very little difference to the conservative buyer.

The committee, which included W. C. Childers, W. H. Corey, H. E. Reinan and A. E. Block, made an extensive study of the situation. The committee visited San Diego, Escondido, San Bernardino, Fontana, Los Angeles and other Southern California poultry centers. Data secured at these places was prepared in the form of a comparative table.

Not Much Difference

The table reveals that the average prices of five principal feed products is very close in all sections of Southern California. The comparison shows that San Diego has a ratio of $2.38 per hundred weight, San Bernardino an average of $2.30, Los Angeles, $2.37, and Orange county $2.47 per hundred weight. The Los Angeles, San Bernardino and San Diego prices are based on mill door, carload lot sales, while the higher average in Orange county is caused by the sales of smaller amounts. Several Orange county men have recently started purchasing carload lots and have realized a considerable saving. Freight prices are also higher to Orange county than to the other sections of Southern California, it was reported.

There is another definite reason for the price differential. While Los Angeles has the advantage to a greater buying power, owing to the huge quantity purchased, it is handicapped with an expensive sales system, apparently demanded by the poultrymen. Keen competition induced one of the mills to put out a "service man," whose business it was to give poultry management advice and to sell feed. This venture was so successful that it was immediately copied by other mills, with the result that at present scores of salesmen are living off the poultry industry. "Living off the industry" is the advised syntax of this statement, for the salesmen do not contribute a great deal to the essentials of the business. Of course, some one pays the salaries and expenses, and this is added to the general mill overhead and the ultimate consumer pays it as usual.

This declaration leads to the conclusion that if poultrymen would secure cheaper feeds, they must dispense with some services.

Difficult to Agree

Most mills would probably be glad to dispense with this system, but it must be done by a unanimous agreement. A unanimous agreement to obtain, because the difficulty revealed the fact that the mill using the largest number of salesmen had increased its business volume to a point where the sales costs were the cheapest of those investigated. This naturally would create a reluctance to discontinue the salesmen.

It is obvious that an increase of salesmen by all the mills would not secure the same results as the business as a whole is not unlimited. Such an increase would, therefore, only result in a higher selling cost generally.

Growing out of the study is the personal conclusion of one member of the committee that a substantial saving in feed purchases could be effected by the co-operative purchasing in carload lots of whole grains and standard feeds. It was his suggestion that the owners of 20,000 or 30,000 hens pool their feed orders monthly for car door delivery.

It is understood that a co-operative effort of this nature is being conducted in the vicinity of Garden Grove at present. It is provided a nucleus and it is necessary to enlarge this organization to carry out the committee's idea. In Escondido there exists a co-operative concern which turned over a $150,000 business last year, and they grew up from a similar idea some five or six years ago. They maintain their membership by a patronage dividend and operate without any financial agreement.

The idea of pooling purchases through local dealers was tried in Orange county a few years ago. Theoretically the idea involved in this endeavor was ideal, but the plan failed because of lack of confidence in the system and the lack of willingness to co-operate on the part of the poultrymen.

The importance of cheaper feed prices is apparent in the comparison showing that a small saving of 10 cents a sack results in an annual saving of $70 to the owner of a thousand hens. To spread this minor economy over the entire county would mean a saving of $21,000 per year, a considerable amount saved to find its way into local business lines. Viewing the situation from this standpoint, the question becomes one of importance to others than poultrymen.

The Sandhill section of North Carolina has been found adaptable to the growth of European grapes, such as the malaga or muscat, now grown almost exclusively in California.

FARM PROSPECTUS TO BE DISTRIBUTED

Offering 33 courses in eight curricula, and with a faculty staff of 170 engaged in research and instruction, the prospectus of the University of California, for the academic year 1927-1928, is ready for distribution, according to announcement of Dean E. D. Merrill. The prospectus may be obtained free by writing Farm Advisor H. E. Wahlberg, Santa Ana.

Students may enter the college of agriculture at Berkeley, or Davis, as regularly enrolled in the University of California, looking toward a degree of bachelor of science on the completion of their four-year course. Or they may enter at Davis in the non-degree work, to take what courses they may need in preparation for farming. Provision is made, too, for graduate instruction, and graduates of the University of California, or other institutions of recognized standing may prepare for their masters' or doctors' degrees.

The prospectus explains the admission requirements, gives an announcement of courses and curricula, describes correspondence courses, degree requirements, explains the agricultural extension service, the facilities offered by the college, tells of the farmers' short courses, graduate work, intercession and summer session work, explains the non-degree curriculum, scholarships available, teachers' credentials, and gives abundant general information on expenses of the student, living accommodation, employment and rules and regulations.

POMONA SHIPS 300 CARLOADS OF ORANGES

POMONA, Aug. 3.—Six hundred carloads of Valencia oranges have been shipped from the Pomona valley packing houses, which include the San Antonio exchange, the San Dimas and LeVerne Fruit associations and two co-operative plants. There remain approximately 1000 cars for shipment.

The LaVerne and San Dimas houses will continue moderate shipments throughout the summer, providing prices on smaller sizes remain satisfactory, but most of the San Antonio exchange houses have closed on Valencia shipments until September, when the remainder of the crop will roll east.

The Valencia market this season has suffered generally from an over-supply of small sizes.

Management Of Laboratory Put Into New Hands

The management of the poultry pathological laboratory which was established in Los Angeles at the instance of the farm bureau of southern counties poultry department, was placed in the hands of a board of control at a recent meeting of the department.

A committee made up of representatives of the organizations contributing to the support of the laboratory will constitute this board. The laboratory is maintained co-operatively by various contributions of money and services.

The board of control will represent the poultrymen at large, the department of agriculture, feed mills, the county veterinarian of Los Angeles and the seven southern counties poultry department.

Ladybug Farm To Be Established

COLORADO SPRINGS, Aug. 3.—Farmers of the future may receive market quotations reading, "Hippodamia convergens, $5 a quart," if plans for the starting of a ladybug farm near here are carried out.

Since the near plague of ladybugs in July, 1922, when bushel after bushel of the harmless insects were taken off trees in the Pike Peak national forest, the research department of the service has found this region suited to the raising of the insects. To orchardists, melon and onion growers the bugs are of great worth, as they eat the larvae and worms that destroy these crops.

The market price of the bugs is set at from $5.50 to $5 per quart, and already there is a demand from the cantaloupe and melon growers of the Rocky and Arkansas valley growers.

CHARLES A. BISSELL

Chief engineer of the U. S. bureau of reclamation, who has found 200,000 acres of unused land in seven southern states reclaimable. As a result, the United States will co-operate with these states in setting up model farm communities there.

U. S. WILL HELP RECLAIM 200,000 ACRES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—The federal government has announced its readiness to help reclaim some 200,000 acres of swampy and cut-over lands in the south, and establish model agricultural settlements there.

This is the assurance of Secretary of the Interior Hubert Work, based on a recent tour of seven southern states by Charles A. Bissell, chief engineer of the bureau of reclamation in his department. It follows a previous inspection trip made by a special commission of three advisors on reclamation and rural development.

Bissell traveled through North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi and Tennessee and discovered large tracts of unused lands ranging in area from 10,000 to 30,000 acres and capable of providing homes and material support for from 100 to 200 families.

"I found no insuperable difficulties in draining or clearing the lands under investigation," he reports. "My outstanding impression was the diversity of opportunities and variety of climate suitable for any kind of agricultural development—truck farming, beef-cattle raising, dairying and general farming."

"I found the prices of land varying from almost nothing to $500 an acre for soil adapted to production of truck crops in Florida." The arrangement for reclamation of the unused lands in these states provides for federal and state co-operation. The agrarian movement, fostered by Dr. Elwood Mead, chief of the bureau of reclamation, would establish a class of "homesteads" in the south, for which applicants will have to pass a qualification test including those of financial responsibility, training and fitness for farming.

Establish Settlements

The settlements will be designed as model agricultural units, where state authorities might test promising scientific theories. In fact, some of these tracts will be developed along certain approved lines before being occupied. For instance, one tract will be given generous treatment of lime to improve the soil, while other areas will be devoted to specific crops for a period of years.

Long time credit facilities will be extended the occupants of these ideal settlements.

"The unoccupied lands of the south would seem to offer a fine opportunity for making a demonstration of what can be done by careful planning to enable families of industry and thrift to become home owners and lead thereon a pleasant and profitable life," said Dr. Work's comment on the enterprise.

College Students Return To Farms

RALEIGH, N. C., Aug. 3.—That college training doesn't keep the boy from the farm is shown by the records of the school of agriculture at the State college here.

Out of 640 men who have been graduated in agriculture here, from 1893 to 1927, 173 are engaged directly in farming. Besides these, 253 are engaged in teaching, extension work or in some other form of agricultural work.

This makes a total of 79 per cent of the original number that have remained in agricultural pursuits.

What is planned to be one of the largest poultry exhibitions in the country will be held at the Atlantic City in October, by the Jersey State Poultry association. Every phase of poultry husbandry, from eggs to hen houses, will be shown.

San Diego To Open Fair September 13

Announcement that the annual San Diego county fair will be held at the fair grounds, Balboa park, Sept. 13 to 17, was made yesterday by Felix Landis, secretary of the San Diego County Farm Bureau federation.

The county fair for 1927 is being outlined, Secretary Landis said, as the most pretentious event of its kind yet held in this part of Southern California, and the list of premiums will be larger and more valuable than ever before.

DIFFERENCE SHOWN IN SWEET POTATOES

There are two types of sweet potatoes grown for the market, and, as might be expected, some people prefer one type and some the other, according to observations of the farm advisor's staff.

When cooked, the one type is rather dry and mealy and the other is soft and moist. Both types are not grown in all sections of the country, and because sweet potatoes are of a perishable nature many people are still aware of the excellent culinary properties of both types.

By a series of practical canning experiments workers in the United States department of agriculture have shown that it is entirely feasible to produce both a dry and a moist canned product from the same variety. When freshly dug sweet potatoes are cooked the product is always firm and dry, whereas that from the stored potatoes is much softer, and varies in the way from rather dry to very moist in character.

By canning the freshly dug potatoes of such desirable varieties as the Nancy Hall, Porto Rico, and Gold Skin one may obtain a dry product that may be sliced for sauteing and candying just as satisfactorily as the fresh potato; and by canning the stored potatoes of the same variety a moist product may be obtained which is very well adapted to the making of puddings and pies. This canned sweet potatoes well adapted to every culinary use to which the fresh potato is put may be made available everywhere and at all seasons.

The sweet potato is adapted to a wide variety of culinary uses, says the department, and once this has become realized and the potato has been made available in all parts of the country at all seasons of the year, it should become popular. Few persons, perhaps, realize how closely the southern sweet potato pie and the New England pumpkin pie resemble each other both in appearance and flavor.

Tomato Pests Are Halted By Traps

DANVILLE, Ill., Aug. 3.—Traps for tomato worm moths of particular ingenuity are found on a truck farm at Danville, near here.

Electric lights and a pan full of kerosene compose the simple paraphernalia. The pans are placed three to four feet above the ground. Six inches higher are electric lights.

The moths are attracted by the lights and eventually fall into the kerosene pans.

The owner of the farm estimated that about half of his tomato crop had prey to the moth-worms before his unique scheme was devised. His losses have been cut in half, he asserts.

"We can keep tomato worms from infesting the tomato crop by using this simple method," he says.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—John P. Hurley, American consul at Vienna, reports an Austrian's invention of a machine that plants seeds at definite intervals.

The device, according to Hurley, saves considerable seed and promises an increased yield of from 100 to 200 per cent in the crops. Small crops planted by this machine are reported to be three weeks ahead of those planted by hand.

Besides, it is said, the plants show a deeper green color and larger size of stalks.

PUMP REPAIRS SAVE RANCHER $70 MONTHLY

By W. M. CORY

Saving, or the wise expenditure of money is one of the axioms of success generally advanced by all eminently successful men. This is true to relate how one Orange county farmer made a wise expenditure which will return him interest on the amount spent. The investment amounted to $300 and was for pump repairs. It resulted in a monthly saving of $70 in his power bill, in addition to increasing the volume of water pumped by 36 inches, which will decrease his labor in irrigation considerably by being able to get over the ground sooner.

This is probably an exceptional case and there may not be many where such a saving can be made. It does point out that pump machinery is subject to wear, which is not untrue of other machines, and when the point is reached where the rate of power used is out of proportion to the useful work accomplished in lifting water, then replacements are an economical investment.

The rectangular weir, for measuring water, is a relatively simple device and correct conditions for measuring water are quite easily obtained. With such an instrument and a set of weir tables found in University of California circular No. 250, entitled, "Measurement of Irrigation Water on the Farm," guesswork can be taken out of the number of miner's inches pumped. Very few can estimate the volume of water with any degree of accuracy as has been brought out at field meetings on water measurement under the auspices of the agricultural extension service.

The weir which was used was made of No. 14 gauge galvanized sheet metal six feet long, tapered to a rounding point three feet wide, with a rectangular orifice cut in the center, 12 inches by 18 inches. The weir was cut in the center so the orifice could be made 12 inches wide or 18 inches wide, according to the size of the stream to be measured. The cost of the materials and assembling did not exceed six dollars.

FIND ORANGE PULP IS GOOD COW FEED

Dried orange pulp is approximately equivalent to dried beet pulp as a feed for milk production, and 100 pounds of the substance contain about 78 pounds of total digestible nutrients, according to Prof. W. M. Regan and S. W. Mead of the division of agriculture of the University of California.

Regan and Mead, after a careful study and feeding experiments, have published their findings in bulletin 427 of the college of agriculture, "The Value of Orange Pulp for Milk Production." The bulletin is ready for distribution and may be obtained free by writing the college at Berkeley, or Davis, or from the farm advisors in the various counties.

Neither fresh nor dried orange pulp influences the percentage of fat in the milk produced, the authors of the bulletin found. While fresh orange pulp was readily eaten, it was necessary to mix the dried pulp with a more palatable feed.

Orange pulp consists of the rind, seeds and the pulp, and a small amount of the unrecycled juice, oils, and other extracts. It is a heavy wet mass having the following approximate composition: moisture, 80.03 per cent; crude protein, 1.71 per cent; nitrogen free extract, 15.23 per cent; crude fiber, 1.61 per cent; ether extract, 75 per cent; and ash, .67 per cent.

Fresh orange pulp is valuable only to dairy farms within trucking distance of the factory of the Exchange Orange Products company at San Dimas, but the dehydrated product is shipped easily. The company, faced with the problem of disposing of thousands of tons of the pulp, appealed to the university for assistance in determining its value as a dairy feed, and the results of the tests made are given in the bulletin.

10 CENTRES IN DOG PACIFIC RPLATE PRICE

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 3.—When the entry list of the airplane race from the Pacific coast to Hawaii for $35,000 in prizes offered by James D. Dole, closed last night, 10 aviators had filed their $100 entry fees.

It was believed probable that the original estimate of 15 planes in the race will be correct, as all aviators mailing their entry fees before midnight last night will be eligible to compete. The usual last minute rush is expected.

"The Dole flight will be the greatest long distance air race in history," Capt. C. W. Saunders, California governor for the National Aeronautic association, said. "We sincerely hope it will do something to prove the efficiency of aviation."

The number of starters in the 2408-mile race across water in which a few degrees mistake in compass reading would mean disaster, was raised to 10 in the 24 hours preceding the closing of the entry list.

The entry blanks of John W. "Jack" Frost, naval reserve lieutenant, and Arthur V. Clark were filed.

Frost will pilot a Lockheed monoplane with a Wright whirling motor. He will carry 360 gallons of gasoline.

A Cantilever monoplane with two Bristol-Lucifer 120 horsepower motors will be used by Clark. He will take 408 gallons of gasoline.

THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE: Franklin's Bravery

By Special Permission of the Publishers of The Book of Knowledge. Copyright, 1923-26

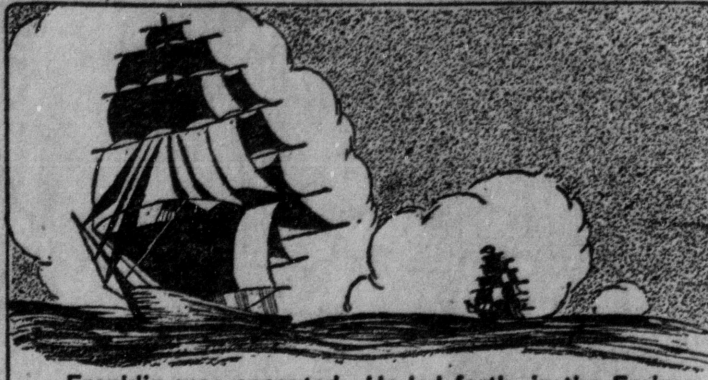

The story of Beechey's and Franklin's expedition would fill a book. There was appalling cold, months of starvation, the parties broken into small detachments raving with hunger, with a frightful Indian guide turned cannibal secretly killing the men of one detachment.

Sixteen years passed after this failure, and then came the great expedition of 1845 to find the elusive channel or path.

Franklin offered his services. When the British Admiralty mentioned his great age, the old man roared: "Sir! I am but fifty-nine."

Franklin was accepted. He led forth, in the Erebus and Terror the best equipped expedition that ever left England's shores. His instructions were to follow the Fish river to Bering Strait, and he did. He passed a point west of that which Beechey had reached. Then the demons of the Arctic ice claimed him as a sacrifice.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY NAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The others went ahead all right and soon the candy was pure white. "I guess we all have finished," said the Taffy Man, aloud. "Just put your taffy on my shelf, with that that I have pulled myself." Then, as the Taffies eyed their work, it made them feel real proud.

"Say, can we eat some?" Clowdy cried. "We'll know how good it is, when tried." The Taffy Man just looked at him, then answered, very quick. "Say, lad, when you were pulling that, you ate enough to make you fat. Be careful you don't eat too much, or it will make you sick."

Of course the Taffy Man was right. Each one had more than a bite, and so they all were satisfied to wait till after awhile. They sat around an hour or so, and then they all saw Chippy go into the house to sneak a piece. This made the whole bunch smile. Their new friend started all the bunch by shouting, "Say, I have a hunch. I guess I'll build a taffy boat. I think that would be grand." The whole bunch shouted, "Gee, that's good. We surely wish you really would. And, say, if you will show us how, we'll gladly lend a hand."

So, off their kind old new friend ran and soon returned with monstrous pan. "Twas filled with luscious taffy that would make a dozen boats. 'If kind attention now is paid,' said he, 'the ship will soon be made. Be sure and put the taffy on the ship—not down your throats!'"

So everybody went to work, and not a one was known to shrink. The little ship soon took real form, and was a wondrous scale. The Taffy Man piled taffy-high, and moulded it with watchful eye. In 'bout an hour the ship was done, and ready for a sail.

(The Tynymites go sailing on the good ship Taffy in the next story.)

The WOMAN'S DAY
by ALLENE SUMNER

Even in this so-called "enlightened day" many people prefer a miserable, bickering, stifling, degrading home life to divorce. If pushed for reasons, they plausibly blab something about "for the good of the child."

Clarence Darrow, who probably knows more about human beings than any other living person, takes a wallop at this idea in a recent article in which he upholds divorce when one or two persons are unhappy in the marriage. He says:

"The child that is brought up in a home where husband and wife are not congenial always suffers grievously from the situation."

Many times the man who makes a poor husband makes a poor father, and the woman who makes a poor wife also makes a poor mother, and it's up to the good husband or the good wife to grab the child away from the opposing party.

IT'S THE WOMAN
"It's the girls." This is the answer which Judge Charles A. Oberwager, a New York City magistrate, gives that question, "What's wrong with the times?"

The judge says that boys have not changed, but girls have. He blames all the troubles of today on the female of the species.

"The way the average girl dresses and conducts herself before boys is a direct incitement to evil," he opines.

Perhaps he's right, but he does not consider causes which might put a different hue upon modern feminine conduct.

The causes have to do with woman's floundering attempts to be an individual, a real person, after long centuries when she was regarded as nothing but a possession of some man, her father's or brother's or husband's. What more natural than that she makes a fool of herself until she is accustomed to her new status? Few people drive a car very well the first few hours of its ownership, either.

ALIMONY FOR MEN
Alimony for men is just exactly as right as alimony for women, when conditions are the same, according to the National Woman's Party, which insists on the same rights and handicaps for both sexes. Which is all balderdash!

The entire principle of alimony, even if legal twists can get away from the original principle, is based on the fact that woman is the bearer and rearer of children and that her wage-earning capacities are necessarily impaired by this other capacity.

Again the old question, why in the world should women want to be exactly like men? Two stories of women in the morning news make me wonder this more than ever. One is about Madame Nungesser, mother of the lost French trans-Atlantic flier. She declared that he lives and that she will see him again—"Mother instinct tells me so." Have men anything of wonder to substitute for such faith as this? And there is the story of a woman who, bequeathed several million dollars, will not accept it, "because it is not right." Does the male nature often perform a feat like that?

BUT—
Women, though, have many a vice compared with a male virtue. Women, I think, are more selfish and individualistic than men and rarely care a cent about the neighbor and her children as long as they and their children are cared for. Observe women with children on a street car, at a theater box office, waiting in line anywhere. Watch them play unfair, shove and scowl and break all the rules of the game in order to care for their own first. "This is that beautiful maternal instinct," of which we hear so much.

Beauty and Health

SIDE FACES

The side face is often deceptive. You may look at a woman's profile and decide she's nearly 40. When she turns around, she's 25. She has simply been silly enough to let her chin line go.

You may look at a new face, profile, and think the owner young—and find she isn't when she turns to look at you. Again it's a case of what she has done with her chin line—the chin line counts enormously with the side face.

The nose counts almost as much, but you can't do so much about it. Profiles are supposed to show character—real character, as the mouth does. Perhaps—but I think you can do enough things to your profile to deceive anyone, at least deceive people into thinking you are pretty even if you are not. It wasn't so true before the days of the bob, but now, when a clever barber can cut a woman's hair to shape her head as it should be, to make it longer, or rounder, or thinner, or fatter, just as he chooses, the profile can be changed amazingly.

Suppose you don't like your profile—all right, go to the very best hair-dresser you know and have the hair cut some way, anyway, so it improves the lines of your forehead and head. For a thin face, have a little hair brought over the cheeks and for a long face, bring it down over the forehead; otherwise, leave it to the discretion of the barber.

Take every care of your chin line. Rub it with astringents, massage it, use ice, but keep it smooth and firm. Hold it so the line under it is as long as possible—that is, don't dig your chin into your chest! If your nose is fat, massage it daily from top to tip, this makes it thin and helps shape it nicely. Keep your skin clear, this helps the profile too.

Mrs. T. J. M. Jr.—Cocoa butter is such a heavy oil that it should not be used on the face or throat, because it would easily attract soil if it were not entirely absorbed after a massage and it is this combination of soil and oil that helps along any tendency to grow superfluous hair. While it would be all right to use it on your scalp, it is too heavy for the hair, so try a very little bit of olive oil for this.

B. B.—Continued use of peroxide would cause the hair to deteriorate and also start scalp troubles.

Yeast Will Aid
In Softening
Coarse SkinBy MME. ANNE GERARDE
For NEA Service

The perfect skin is the soft, fine-grained transparent skin. Coarse skins, however, can be greatly improved with diligent care.

To soften and tighten up a coarse skin perform the following rite twice a week:

Make a thick paste by diluting two cakes of yeast in lukewarm water and apply with cotton until your face and neck are covered like a mask.

Leave on one hour. Rest while it is drying. Wash off with warm water and rub immediately with a little skin food. Remove thoroughly and use strong astringent. On the days when you are not giving your face the mask treatment, be sure to use astringent every time you cleanse it.

ROOT MAKES BRUINS PENNANT CONTENDER

In a trade with Los Angeles, the Pacific coast league.

Two big years with Los Angeles, in which he won 21 and 25 games, respectively, stamped him as positively ready for the big show. He was recalled by Chicago at the close of the 1925 season.

In his debut year with the Cubs he registered 18 wins, 17 defeats. An improved curve, with a good change of pace and the same old fast ball of the St. Louis Browns days, made it apparent that he was soon destined to star in the National league.

The season of 1927 seems to be the big year. His fine pitching has supplied the Cubs with a confidence in their real ability. The way he is traveling he should win 25 games and may reach the 30 mark.

How interesting all this must be to Manager Dan Howley of the St. Louis Browns! What a valuable acquisition Root would be to the new leader of the club in his effort to rebuild the team!

distinguished service in the American league, has always played fair and worked hard.

During all that time he has never once on the ball field criticized a single action on the part of his teammates. Johnson has lost many ball games through errors, but instead of berating, he has always commended the efforts of his fellow players, no matter how costly the slip.

No umpire who has ever worked a ball game behind Johnson can recall that he ever made a serious protest.

"What was the matter with that one?" is the only way he has ever expressed his views over a doubtful ruling on balls and strikes.

Baseball will miss Walter Johnson when he passes from the picture. Pitchers like him come but once in a lifetime.

NEWS FROM ORANGE COUNTY TOWNS

PROGRAM FOR BEACH FIESTA IS ARRANGED

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 3.—Her majesty, Queen Charlotte the First! That is the way to address the queen of the Third Annual Laguna Beach fiesta for four days lasting from August 10 to the last hour of August 13. On all other days the queen is Miss Charlotte Browne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Browne, of Laguna. Miss Browne was chosen by popular vote.

In honor the bells will ring out gaily and an unusual parade will pass in her honor. This parade, on August 10, will mark the official opening of the fiesta. It has been staged managed by Howard Sheridan. The parade will form at Honeyuckle court and pass down a hillside road to Foster street, then up Foster street to the Coast boulevard, to Foster street, down Foster street to the Community club.

On the same evening the days of '49 will hold sway with all the wild and woolly stunts of frontier days. Thursday and Friday evening, August 11 and 12, will also feature the mining camps of the miners, with attractions such as the midnight burlesque so popular in the old days, floor entertainers, and plenty of interesting games. At 11 o'clock each night the pony express will arrive with letters. Ten of the letters will contain real money. They will be delivered to 10 lucky individuals each night.

People famous in the stage world will be heard in the '49 stunts. Benjamin F. Horning, creator of the role of Father Serra in the San Gabriel Mission play and one of the foremost Shakespearean actors in America, will do a version of "The Old Prospector." Mrs. Guy Bates Post, famous on the musical comedy stage as Adele Ritchie, is arranging with the Marion Munson, who years a headliner in vaudeville houses all over the world, will interpret two widely diverging characters in the dance hall scene. Faustina Lucero, the Miss California of the Sesqui-Centennial at Philadelphia and a well known Spanish dancer, will give some Spanish dances. William Crawford, formerly with the movies but now a real estate man, will be sheriff. At least half a dozen men who were at the Sacramento days of '49 will take part.

There will be many dancers, plenty of good singers, some of them professionals, and hundreds of costumed forty-niners to make atmosphere. This show promises to be one of the best things ever attempted in Laguna Beach. The last night of the fiesta there will be a grand costume ball with prizes for fine costumes. Queen Charlotte will hold court and notables will be presented to Her Majesty. Two famous harpists, Mrs. T. Cooke Haskins and her daughter, Miss Maude Haskins, both of Los Angeles and formerly with the Symphony orchestra there, will play before the queen, beautifully garbed in Spanish costumes. Dancers and singers will entertain before the ball begins. Splendid music has been secured for the dancing.

In the afternoon a bridge party will be held with four paintings by Laguna Beach artists as prizes, one of them to be given as a door prize. On the walls of the clubhouse will hang the paintings just brought back from St. Ann's inn, where they were exhibited and where about $4,000 was realized from sales for the benefit of the Laguna Beach Art association for the new art gallery.

In the plaza, a gaily decorated and ornate place, there will be many booths where all things can be purchased, confetti, streamers, noise makers, punch, all sorts of things. Street musicians in Spanish costumes, the Laguna Beach Marine band in Spanish costumes and various individual singers and dancers will make of the plaza a merry place.

Delay Purchase Of Newport Life Saving Equipment

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 3.—Equipment recommended for installation on the two piers, including two dories and paraphernalia for life saving, by Chief of Police J. A. Winn, at Monday's meeting of the city council, will not be purchased at this time, according to members of the council.

The funds of the city are said to be inadequate for the purchase because of the many other demands which have been made, councilmen say. The cost was estimated at $500.

The application of Chief Winn for an increase in salary from $3,000 per year to $3,600 has been approved by the council acting as a committee of the whole and the city auditor.

House At Newport Beach Purchased

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 3.—Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Ozene are occupying the former home of Paul Ellsworth at 1905 West Central avenue, following their purchase of the house from Ellsworth.

The house is said to be one of the most complete in the city. The consideration was not announced. Ellsworth is occupying a house at 1100 West Central avenue. Ozene is the owner and operator of the fishing yacht "Sunshine."

FIESTA QUEEN

Miss Charlotte Browne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Browne, of Laguna Beach, who will reign over the fiesta at Laguna Beach August 10 to 13.

SOLOIST FEATURED BY ANAHEIM BAND

ANAHEIM, Aug. 3.—Miss Elizabeth Siegel of the Anaheim Conservatory of Music, well known soprano soloist, was the featured artist at the regular weekly concert given by the Anaheim American Legion band in the Greek theater last night. Miss Katherine Steward furnished the piano accompaniment for the singer.

The band concert, usually held on Wednesday evenings, was held last night in order that members of the band could leave early this morning for Santa Barbara, where they are to take part in the state American Legion convention. The band, which is being sent to the convention by popular subscription, is to play during the convention sessions.

A cornet solo, "Commodore Polka," played by Theo. Clausen, was the outstanding feature of the band's part in last night's program.

Bee Hive Club In Brea Elects

BREA, Aug. 3.—At a regular meeting of the Bee Hive club, held in Sewell hall Monday afternoon, new officers were elected for the coming six months, as follows: Mrs. Mary Edmondson, president; Mrs. Minnie Epla, vice president; Mrs. Florence Jones, recording secretary; Mrs. Edna Brambley, treasurer.

An all-day meeting of the club has been called for August 10 at the home of Mrs. Brambley, with a pot-luck luncheon at noon, during which time the business session of the club will be held. The afternoon hours will be devoted to sewing and various kinds of work for the Rebekah bazaar which is scheduled to be held late in October.

SANTA ANA GARDENS

SANTA ANA GARDENS, Aug. 3.—Mrs. J. Wilford has as visitors, her sister, Mrs. Ethel Ross, and family, of Missouri. They intend to locate here soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Adkinson and sons have returned after a two-weeks' visit in San Francisco. Otis Bane, who is stationed at the San Diego naval base, spent last week with his aunt, Mrs. Alfred Bush.

Mrs. John Holliday, who underwent a serious operation at the Anaheim sanitarium, is home, after having been in the hospital three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Thadford have returned home from the northern part of the state, where they spent two weeks, on a vacation. They were obliged to shorten their stay on account of the rain.

Harvey Walker and family, who were spending a 10-day vacation with Mrs. Walker's father, of Tulare county, have returned home and report a very delightful time.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stewart and family, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Stewart and family of Compton, spent Sunday with Mrs. A. Rush and family.

Harold Anderson, of the U. S. S. Kanawha, has returned home on a short leave, to be spent with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Anderson.

Mrs. Claude Anderson, of Santa Ana, was an all-day visitor Friday at the home of Mrs. Vandermal.

E. W. Wall, of Santa Ana, visited J. W. Wall, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wall went to Los Angeles Friday night, to see "The Big Parade."

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Anderson, of Costa Mesa, visited Mrs. Reid Sunday.

Elsie Pagiu spent Sunday with Orilla Brockett, of Talbot.

A number of families of this vicinity motored to Balboa Saturday night to witness the tournament of lights.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Marble had as their guests Sunday, Mr. Marble's father and brother and family, of Alhambra.

Mr. and Mrs. George Cordell and son, Danny, Mr. and Mrs. W. Murphy and children, of Silver Acres; Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Murphy and sons, Clark and Lester, of Hutchinson, Kans.; Mr. and Mrs. V. Ball and children and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dye, of Santa Ana, attended a picnic at Huntington Beach Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Cordell and son spent Sunday night and Monday with Mrs. W. Terwilliger of Willowbrook.

EVENING SALUTATION

Charity resembleth fire, which inflameth all things which it toucheth.—Erasmus.

STILL MOST LIKELY NOMINEE

"I do not choose to run for President in 1928." These few words from Calvin Coolidge electrified the public life of the United States yesterday. They came just at a time when political leaders of the nation had settled down to the firm belief that he would be a candidate and that he would be re-elected without serious opposition.

Many Republican leaders have declared their belief that the announcement must be interpreted as a decision on the part of President Coolidge not to be an active seeker after the nomination. They believe that it merely means that if he is to be a candidate the Republican party must draft him against his expressed will. Some go so far as to say that the President has not set forth his heart's desire in the matter, but has merely thrown the whole burden of selection upon the party.

We are of the opinion that as the atmosphere clarifies it will be found that the President's announcement does not mean a positive declaration on his part that he will not be a candidate. In fact, it seems very likely that he will be the choice of the convention. No other Republican leader seems to have an outstanding call upon the nomination. If Coolidge is out of consideration, there are a dozen or fifteen men, favorite sons and capable leaders, who could go to the convention each with a number of state delegations pledged to him. The likelihood of any one of them arriving at the gathering with anything like a majority vote is remote, as viewed at this time. Among these dozen or fifteen candidacies, where would one go for a compromise candidate? Coolidge.

Though President Coolidge has said that he does not "choose" to be a candidate, he still looms as the most likely selection of the Republican party in 1928.

OUR NORTHWEST PASSAGE

The fact that the city council has instructed a committee to inspect the Flower street bridge with a view of determining whether it is safe for the passage of heavy truck loads is significant. It calls to mind the fact that Santa Ana is making a great deal of use of the Flower street route between the business and residence sections of Santa Ana and the state highway. Recent grading, surfacing and rolling of that street has put it into good condition for traffic.

Traffic searches out and makes use of good roads. Particularly does it search out and make use of good roads that take it off congested highways. Thus, Flower street through the West Orange section is bearing a rapidly increasing number of automobiles and trucks.

The bridge, by all means, should be made adequate to meet the needs of heavy traffic. True, an effort might be made to route heavy hauling by way of the state highway. Efforts of that kind would be doomed to failure, as Santa Ana officials well know, for they have tried and failed to keep gravel wagons and other heavy trucking off streets that are paved lightly. Flower street eventually will have to be paved to meet heavy traffic. It is bound to be used extensively.

BIG INSURANCE LOSS

It is stated by the Veterans' bureau at Washington that the failure of war veterans to keep up their war risk insurance will lose them about $36,000,000,000. These figures are not a typographical error. It is thirty-six billion dollars. And that is about as much as it cost us to fight the whole blooming war.

Let us be clear, however. The veterans do not stand to lose that much money already put into insurance. The huge sum mentioned is the amount of their policies, not their paid-in premiums. It is what veterans' policies, now forfeited, would be worth to them at maturity if they had kept up their payments and converted the temporary policies before July 1 as the government urged them to do.

As matters stand, the total amount of the policies issued, nearly $40,000,000,000 at the close of the war, is reduced to less than $4,000,000,000.

It is unfortunate for the veterans. They had this insurance on easier terms than life insurance can be got for from private companies.

Many of them will take out new policies later, with private companies, at higher premiums, when they feel more keenly the need of insurance. That is something it takes most of us considerable time to learn.

"AVIGATOR" SUGGESTED

Perhaps the laity will have to learn a new word in connection with long-distance airplane flights. The word is "avigator," suggested by Lieut. Hegenberger, one of the Hawaiian fliers, as a substitute for the present word "navigator" in referring to the one who guides or directs an airplane.

Strictly according to the derivation of the word, "navigator" should be applied only to one who pilots a boat.

Well, avigator is a perfectly good word, with good ancestry back of it and a real need justifying its appearance. It is an easy word to say and to spell and to understand. At least, it ought to be easy. But the public that still calls an airplane an "aeroplane" and a radio aerial an "areal" and the island of Madeira "Maderia" may take a dislike to "avigator" just because it can't be readily distorted.

MORE GREATNESS AT HAND

How are the mighty fallen! Or rather, how does mightiness increase in the land! We used to have only one Babe Ruth. Now we seem to have two. Lately Lou Gehrig, first baseman of the New York Yankees, has been running about even with the mighty Babe in swatting home runs.

Babe, apparently, is as good as ever. His eye has not lost its keenness nor his arm its power. He bids fair to make as good a record as ever for the season. But another Babe appears to equal his prowess.

It is a familiar phenomenon. Greatness, in any sphere, seems to beget greatness. Lindbergh does the impossible by flying the Atlantic, and straightway everybody starts doing it, and the nation finds it has a wealth of air prowess it never knew it possessed. It was so when a girl swam the English Channel last year; soon the Channel was crowded with champions. Deep calls unto deep, and real greatness calls forth answering greatness from competitors. Soon both Ruth and Gehrig may have to hump themselves to hold their own with batsmen as yet unknown.

Spirited Berkeleyans Save Trees

Stockton Record
City officials, Babbitts and Tinkers who live in "bustling up and coming" communities are apt to think of college towns as in a class with Carmel and the dwelling place of impractical dreamers and sentimentalists. When an author and poet in such a town is given the post of secretary of the chamber of commerce of course these "progressive" citizens think that such a place is hopelessly slurlan.

Nevertheless no one in his right mind would accuse Berkeley, where such a man holds office, of being long-haired or backward. And Berkeley, one of the country's most beautiful cities, has conserved as many of its native oaks as possible and its citizens are making militant efforts to save those now threatened.

Ten trees in Berkeley streets which were condemned to fall under the municipal ax gained a stay of execution this week because of the protests of a throng of citizens. Each tree is to be placed on trial, so to speak, to determine whether it has ever been guilty of any traffic accidents and should come down. The blanket removal order has been held up because of the interest and action of these protesters.

In defense of one of the fine arboreal specimens, one citizen remarked: "I believe this tree, 150 years old at least, is the finest specimen of live oak in Berkeley. If you want a light here, my neighbors and I will provide it if the city council cannot. If you want dead bodies removed, we will take it out. If you want the holes filled with concrete we will do it. My neighbors will help and if they won't, I'll do it."

How often has one heard such a defense of a threatened tree in Stockton?

We do not know the merits or demerits of the Berkeley trees in question. It may be that they all should come out. But what we do know is that the protests of residents saved them for summary execution without a trial.

Just such displays of interest on the part of the citizenry is what is needed to save other street trees—those which are in the curb spaces and offer no menace to traffic. Until Stockton people show the same belligerent interest in our matchless trees they will continue to come down at the request of individuals who seek their removal.

Hoover's Food Plan

Oakland Tribune
Secretary Hoover's plan to control the food waters of the Mississippi and its tributaries is before the President. It is a plan concerning which the nation will hear much, for in cost it is comparable to the Panama Canal.

Something like $10 million dollars will be needed. Secretary Hoover says to carry out an engineering program which is not beyond the skill and resources of the country. When it is realized that the flood of this year cost the people of that area 225 million dollars, the cost does not seem so large.

"There is no question that the Mississippi can be controlled if a good and proper engineering plan is developed," says Mr. Hoover, and the whole country will look for the appearance of such a plan. The safety of 17,000,000 people is at stake and the reclamation of 20,000,000 acres of land is a possibility.

Flood relief has been a pressing question. Flood control is even more important. The Hoover preliminary report—looking to higher and wider levees, spillways, flood basins and storage facilities—will bring this latter subject to the attention of congress and the country.

From Cornstalk Fiber

Butte Post
Silk fiber is going to be made from cornstalks—if the borer leave any. It is said that a silk of very good quality can be manufactured from the corn fiber. A chemist of the Iowa State college foresees the day when this country will consume a billion pounds of the new silk a year.

Those who have seen the miracle of rayon, and of many other transmutations of wood pulp, will hardly question the possibility of this. Modern chemistry is producing materials of many kinds in ways that would have been considered impossible a generation ago. A new world of fabrics is coming into existence, with new colors and new names. Machinery, in many cases, is surpassing nature.

It may seem a pity to rob the cow of her silage. Some substitute, however, will be provided for that. Every new use of corn adds to the value of that leading crop. Farmers, as producers of raw material for countless purposes, will yet come into the prosperity they deserve. Cornstalk stockings are fairly within sight.

FLAT CHESTS AND WEAK LUNGS NOT ALWAYS ASSOCIATED

It has long been the common impression that the flat-chested person is the one likely to have tuberculosis and that persons with large, round chests have a fine set of lungs.

Recently, physicians in the University of Minnesota School of Medicine have made measurements of persons with tuberculosis, of normal adults, of normal children, and of children and adults with various complaints of the chest to determine the chest conformation associated with various diseases. As a result of these observations, it is concluded that the round or deep chest is probably so conformed because it has not developed properly from the infantile condition.

The vital capacity which represents the number of cubic inches of air that a person can forcibly expire after a full inspiration is more than 50 per cent larger in flat-chested persons than in those having a round, tuberculous chest. The vital lung capacity of normal students varied from 2450 to 6200 cubic centimeters, with an average of 4340, whereas that of tuberculous patients varied from 800 to 4300 c. c. with an average of 2650.

The round chest type is probably more prone to tuberculosis. Fortunately, it may be avoided by encouraging children to participate in sports, gymnastics and games, especially those that will aid the proper development of the chest.

Dr. S. A. Weisman recommends for this purpose tennis, baseball, work on the parallel bars, gymnastic rings, swimming, climbing ladders backward, and climbing ropes and trees. A German investigator found that the vital capacity increases in a very short time under these forms of exercise.

My! Aren't We Progressing?

California In Brief

Climate: Year-round producing climate. The Californian can work, grow crops or play every month in the year.

Growth: From 3,500,000 to 5,000,000 population in six years—three times faster than the United States average. This builds value and stability for business, investments, markets, property, opportunity.

Wealth: Twice the national average of wealth, twice the average number of savings bank depositors and twice the average deposit. Only three states report more income tax return; none has so many automobiles per capita.

Health: Six of the 15 most healthful cities in the United States are in California. U. S. government investigations prove California children bigger around the chest and taller than the average.

Education: The California schools share first rank only with Massachusetts in efficiency. Five states have larger enrollments; only two exceed California's expenditures.

Recreation: Four national parks, 1000 miles of ocean shore, a 1000-mile long Sierra playground, 30,000 square miles of national forests, 42,000 miles of paved highways and improved roads. Year-round motoring, golf, fishing, week-ending out of doors.

Crops: More than $600,000,000 yearly. Six million acres under irrigation at a cost of $200,000,000, with great mountain reservoirs supplying abundant water whenever needed during the long sunny growing seasons.

Industry: One of the youngest states, California is eighth in value of manufactured products.

I HAVE A PILGRIMAGE TO MAKE

Lest flaming Dawn should laughing wake
And find me fast asleep with you,
I have a pilgrimage to make
Above the earth still cool with dew.

The moon is etching on the wall
Strange beings of another world;
My spirit cannot stay the call,
I must be gone, with wings unfurled.

Even blossoms white of dogwood there
Sly nod beyond my window bars,
As though they knew the lyric snare
Of perfumed winds and shooting stars.

On my return, my eyes may gleam
With stranger light, my cheek aglow—
But do not think of love I dream—
The stars are brighter than you know!

I must be gone, lest you should wake
To find the chrysalis of me;
I have a pilgrimage to make
That's part of all eternity.

—Marcia Lewis Leach in the Stratford Magazine.

Time To Smile

THE BURDEN OF LEARNING

The inspector was paying his monthly visit to the village school. He examined the children in reading and general knowledge, as was his custom, and was very pleased with the answers he received.

After the last question had been asked and answered satisfactorily he rose to his feet and, looking slowly round on the upturned faces, remarked genially:

"I wish I was a little boy at school again."
He allowed a few moments for this to sink in and then added:

"Do you know why I wish that?"
For a moment or two there was silence and then a childish voice from the back of the room was heard to say:

"Cos you've forgot all you ever knowed!"—Weekly Scotsman.

After suppur pop was in the bathroom trying a new patten thing to sharpen razor blades with, and me and ma and my sister Gladdis was in the living room, Gladdis saying, I feel like a movie tonight, lets go around to the Narcissus, mother.

I will if your father will, but otherwise I don't like to leave him alone this evening, because he has a sort of headache, and in fact I don't even like to ask him, because he regards it as a personal insult to be asked to go to the movies when he feels like that, I don't know why, but he does, ma sed. I wish I knew jest how he felt, she sed.

Giving me a deer, and I sed, Well G, ma, do you want me too go up and tawk to him and find out jest how he feels, so you can decide whether to ask him or not? Well, you mite try, but dont be silly about it, ma sed.

No mam, I sed, And I went in the bathroom and pop was still trying the pattern sharpener, me saying, Hello, pop, and him saying, Hello, I jest saw you about 5 minits ago, but hello anyway if you insist. Yee gods, this machine is worse than the other 99 I've tried, if I ever part with good money agen for another razor sharpener I hope some kind sole will hit me on the head with a blunt instrument and put me out of my misery, he sed.

Why, pop, don't it werk very good? I sed, and he sed, You seize my point with almost uncanny intelligents.

Proberly meening it sourcastic. Wich jest then he cut the end of his finger on the blade, saying, Yee gods, this is too much, my cup of joy is running over, I feel so happy I beleaved I'll run around the house and fill the air with silvery music by breaking all the windows.

Its bleeding, pop, I sed, Meening the end of his finger, and he sed, So it is, brite your eye, you better get out of heer wile your still helthy.

Wich I did, and ma and Gladdis had bin lissenning from the living room so I didnt haff to advise them not to ask him about the movies.

Wich they didnt.

ZONING FOR THE FUTURE

How Cities By Zoning May Safeguard Their Future Prosperity and Happiness

While the essential feature of zoning is the provision of rules that will control building in the future and will divide the city in residential zones, commercial zones and industrial zones; districts for low buildings and districts for high ones; sections where there will be yards and sections where there will be none; it remains a fact that such control of the use of private property cannot have its effect unless there is also control of public property. In other words, the streets and thoroughfares that lead to a certain residential district will have an inescapable effect upon its future; the zoning ordinance may lay out an industrial area, but unless transportation and transit are provided, industries will never occupy it.

Therefore, so far as the future is concerned, zoning is bound up with city planning; and in order to be effective it must be carried on as part of a comprehensive scheme of city planning.

The prosperity of a city is controlled in large part by its city plan, whether that plan is the result of intelligent consideration, or whether it is a plan or pattern that has been permitted to make itself.

In the present era of competitive struggle among cities for industrial advancement, those cities will have the advantage that have given thought to their industrial possibilities, and have related to the land available the schemes for transportation of goods and the transit of workers, and the provision of the right kind of homes for the industrial workers.

The city plan in its major features provides for the traffic, transit and transportation; the streets and bridges, the street railways, bus lines and rapid transit lines; the railways and ship lines and terminals.

The city plan also provides for public buildings for the community business and for parks, playgrounds, school sites and other necessary elements of the public provision for the comfortable lives of the people.

The city plan provides the necessary entrance into and exits from the city, and for the relation of the city to its suburbs and the semi-rural area surrounding it.

It is obvious that planning and zoning should be treated as parts of the same job of pattern-making, and in most of the cities of the United States that union has been formed.

There is still a practical difference, however, and that is that the city planners must of necessity lay down many things that cannot be realized for many years to come, while the zoning ordinance goes into effect at once and is operative from the start.

Mistakes will be made, of course, for no human agent is infallible, but it is important that in zoning with its tremendous effect on the future that the very best thought available be applied to its problems, without yielding too much to the expedient demands of the instant time.

Not long ago I drove through a new section of a city that I had helped to zone. When we drew those maps for that section the whole area was in corn fields and golf courses. There were only a few buildings and they were farm-houses or barns.

Today, after seven years, that area is solidly built up in city houses. The streets are actually where we saw them on paper. The residential streets are all residential. There are no considerable variations in heights, none that are harmful to the neighborhood. Every house has its yard space and its guarantee of light and air.

There are the commercial zones with their groceries and drug stores and the like, just where we thought they should be, in a center of the community they serve. There are the filling stations and the service garages just as they were blocked out on paper.

In all that section there are no incongruous neighbors, and while changing conditions may develop the fact in the course of years that we made mistakes, I could not help but feel that here was a community in which the chance for happiness and prosperity of the individuals who live in it was bettered because their part of the town was consciously and deliberately planned and zoned before the houses were built. What has happened to a small section of Washington in seven years will happen to hundreds of American cities in the next 10 years as the effects of the zoning ordinances on the future become more apparent.

Did You Ever Stop to Think

By Edson R. Waite, Secretary, Shawnee, Okla., Board of Commerce

THAT every business owes its existence to the public.
THAT every business must justify its existence by square dealing.

THAT every business should pay the public what it owes by giving service. ADVERTISING is one of the great services looked for by the public.

THAT in order to serve properly, they must offer clean, up-to-date, quality merchandise.

THAT wise shoppers learned long ago not to spend their money until they first read the ads.

THAT they do it so they will be able to see the best offers on the market and know where to shop.

THAT the advertising columns are the marketplaces of these wise shoppers.

THAT in these columns they find a great variety of reasonable merchandise at right prices.

THAT they buy advertised merchandise because it is the one great opportunity to practice thrift.

THE THRIFTY PERSON IS ALWAYS WISE AS TO HOW TO SAVE. BE THRIFTY!

Tim, Tim-a-lim, Tim-a-lim, Tim, Tim

By SHIRLEY RODMAN WILLIAMS.

CHILDREN love jingles—just words which may or may not mean something. Often little children will be heard chanting seemingly meaningless syllables which give pleasure by jingling. The chant, Tim, Tim-a-lim, Tim-a-lim, tim, tim, for instance, dominated our childhood. We had an old horse, Hansie, who would dance and roll his eyes as we clapped our hands and chanted; a big rooster would strut and crow to our delight, and the rhythmic, forced basis for all child chants. Grown-ups often rebuke a child, "Don't keep saying that nonsense!" and fail to recognize that that nonsense has definite significance to the child and affords him distinct pleasure.

Oh, Tim, Tim-a-lim, Tim-a-lim, tim, tim,
A tree can't bark, but a fish can swim;
A crow can't crow, but a loon can laugh.
A cow is only a grown-up calf.
A potato can't see with all its eyes.
An onion's strong despite its size,
A bush can't walk with many a limb,
Oh, Tim, Tim-a-lim, Tim-a-lim, tim, tim!

Tim, Tim-a-lim, Tim-a-lim, tim, tim,
My dog can bark, and Pete can swim,
Our baby crows and makes us laugh,
An' our red cow has a grown-up calf,
A boy sees fine with both his eyes,
An' I'm most strong despite my size,
Old Roger has one wooden limb,
Oh, Tim, Tim-a-lim, Tim-a-lim, tim, tim!
